GOT THE "GOODS."

Solons Warm Up to Gillett.

Governor-elect Is Greeted at Sacramento Depot by Porter and Others.

Beardslee, for Speaker, Is Withstanding Efforts of Anti-Machine Men.

Friends of Pardee to Be Punished—Ruef's "Sweet Sixteen."

BY B. FRANK GREAVES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Governor-elect Gillett arrived, late this evening, from San Francisco, and with him came a sudden change in the political temperature, from frosty austerity to balmy good-fellowship.

Fair weather signals floated from every prominent flag pole. It snowed almost all day, but the sky cleared and a warm breeze floated down from the Sierras with the arrival of the Gillett train.

HE'S TO BE CHIEF.

There was a large crowd at the station to greet the incoming Governor, who, from tomorrow noon, will be for four years the Chief Executive of California.

He was escorted to the Sutter Club, where he will be a guest until his family arrives and takes up a permanent domicile.

Warren Porter, Lieut-Governor-elect, and a number of prominent citizens and politicians greeted the new Governor at the club rooms. Many ladies were present.

STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN.

The arrival of the Governor-elect marked the close of a strenuous day of campaigning for speakership of the Assembly and other places of importance. The programme is still Beardslee of Stockton for Speaker. He is the choice of the "Organization," and no one believes that the railroad company will fail to organize the Assembly.

Jere Burke and Walter Parker, both of the Southern Pacific, were in close communion during the day with the Assemblymen that do things, and there was no indication that Beardslee had lost any prestige.

OPPOSITION LACKS STRENGTH.

There was a rallying of the opposition in an effort to concentrate on Drew of Fresno, Stanton of Los Angeles, Estudillo of Riverside, Devlin of Vallejo, and a few others who had Speakership aspirations, flocked together for several hours today, but the indications were that they could not develop strength enough in support of Drew to defeat Beardslee. If Beardslee is left out, it will be a big surprise all around.

PUNISHING PARDEE MEN.

It looks now as if Stanton of Los Angeles would fall even to land as Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, because of the same old trouble that put him out of the Speakership fight. He had the misfortune to pick Pardee as winner of the gubernatorial nomination. He could not be Speaker, because that official must be one recognized as being of the administration. It is true that Stanton partially retrieved himself by organizing the original Gillett and Porter Club in Los Angeles, but this carried little weight.

ESTUDILLO TALKED OF.

The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee must be in harmony with the administration, and Stanton's protestations of loyalty have not offset his pronounced leaning toward Pardee during the campaign.

Assemblyman Estudillo of Riverside is talked of for the place held during the last administration by Stanton, but there is no certainty that he will get the position.

RUEF'S "SWEET SIXTEEN."

The San Francisco aggregation in the Assembly apparently made a deal with Beardslee, today, whereby the latter will get the sixteen votes of the Ruef organization in exchange for a good share of patronage.

Coghlan, the San Francisco choice for Speaker, is willing to get out of the way, if the desired number of jobs can be placed at the disposal of such honorable Statesmen as Peter Kelly, Dennis Barry and the rest of the Republican, Democratic and Union Labor crowd—"one in all and all in one."

BALANCE OF POWER.

The "sweet sixteen" is likely to play an important part in the Assembly deliberations. It is likely that times will come when they will hold the balance of power, and will have to be reckoned with in the passage of important legislation. No love is wasted on them by the rest of their associates, for there is an evident desire to escape the smut of the Ruef and Schmitz indictment, but "votes is votes," and the Union Labor crowd is pretty well organized for business.

LLOYD MAY BE CLERK.

Clio Lloyd seems to have won out against Jake Steppacher for Chief Clerk of the Assembly, although Gen. George Stone, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, arrived today and continued to whoop things up for Steppacher. If Stone continues to demand it, Steppacher will have to have the place, for Stone's claims on the "organization" are stronger than Lloyd's.

WOLFE HEADS SENATE.

A caucus of the Senate was called for this afternoon, but no quorum appeared, and it was adjourned until tomorrow morning. Senator Wolfe of San Francisco will be president pro tem. of the Senate.

PATRONAGE LIMIT.

A decision on the patronage limit will be reached today. The conservatives want to fix it at $16 a day for each member, while the radicals favor $25. A compromise probably will be reached on $20, the amount that prevailed at the last session.

As the people turned down the amendment limiting the expenditure to $500 a day for each House, there is a disposition in Senate and Assembly alike to tear things wide open and squander unlimited sums on attachés. Certainly there is a stronger pressure than ever on the part of job seekers.

DR. LINDLEY'S BROTHER.

Assemblyman Transue of Los Angeles and "Al" Lindley of this city are in line for last-minute appointments by Governor Pardee as members of the Building and Loan Commission. Transue is to succeed D. W. Field of Los Angeles, and Lindley to take the place of Charles Shortridge of San José. Lindley is a brother of Dr. Walter Lindley of Los Angeles and was a supporter of Pardee in the last campaign. His new appointment is taken as a reward for his services and to heal the wound caused by his summary removal as Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture by the three members of that board who were removed yesterday by Pardee.

PARKER'S FRIEND TRANSUE.

Transue is to be rewarded because of his close affiliation with Stanton in the Pardee campaign.

The Building and Loan Commissioners are paid $600 a month for four years, also mileage, and the places are not to be "sneezed" at.

CONDOLENCES FOR SAVAGE.

At a meeting of the Los Angeles County delegation, today, the members sent a telegram to Senator Savage of San Pedro, condoling with him on the death of his wife yesterday. A floral piece from the delegation will be furnished at the funeral.

BELL TO CAUCUS.

Senator Charles W. Bell of Pasadena, probably will be admitted to the Republican caucus, although he was elected as a Non-partisan, burying Ben Hahn in an avalanche of votes. It is understood that Mr. Bells desires to caucus with the Republicans, of which party he always has been a staunch member. There is precedent for his admission to the caucus. Independent and Union Labor Senators have been admitted in the past, and Bell's claims are as strong as were theirs.

Both the Senate and the Assembly will caucus early tomorrow morning, and when they meet at noon they will be practically in readiness to proceed with business.

SNOW FOR AN HOUR.

Snow fell for about an hour in Sacramento today, and the temperature was low. It was the first snowstorm in many years that Southern members had seen, and they enjoyed the novelty. Sacramentoans declared that it was unusual weather—the same excuse that Los Angeles people have made of the recent cold snap down there. There was enough of "the beautiful" in the surrounding country to cover the ground with a mantle of white.

TRANSUE "PRO TEM."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Assemblyman J. P. Transue of Los Angeles, will be Speaker pro tem. of the Assembly. The word went "down the line" late tonight, and Transue's selection is as good as completed, although the Assembly does not convene until tomorrow.

At the same time, the word went out that Beardslee of Stockton, will be Speaker and Clio Lloyd of Santa Barbara is again to be Chief Clerk of the Assembly. This does away with all the uncertainty that was expected throughout a day of political perturbation.

Walter Parker and Jere Burke got their heads together for a few minutes tonight, at their headquarters in the Capitol Hotel, and a little later the statement came out.

STANTON MAY HANG ON.

The Legislature is programming most beautifully. The latest indication tonight is that Stanton of Los Angeles may hang on as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Assembly.

PONCE SAFELY EN ROUTE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The missing steamer Ponce of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company which is about a week overdue at New York, en route from Ponce, P. R., was safe and proceeding toward New York two days after leaving Ponce. This information was brought by Capt. Chapman of the sailing vessel Shenandoah, which arrived today from Port Blakeley.

ISSUE OF THE DAY.

Power of the Giant Corporations.

Rate Regulation Law Is Bringing on Struggle for Ascendancy.

Their Defeat Might Cause People to Demand Destruction of Trusts.

Dilemma to Administration Is in Extent to Which It Must Go.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Chauncey M. Depew was questioned 20 years ago, about the effect of a proposed railroad commission law for New York by a legislative committee in Albany, he replied: "Either the commission will own the railroads, or the railroads will own the commission."

A similar struggle for ascendancy, only a thousand fold wider and more important, is now being waged between the great transportation lines and the Interstate Commerce Commission under the new rate regulation law. An illustration of the powers forthcoming is shown in the investigation now being made into the operation of the Union Pacific and other railroads under the control of Edward H. Harriman. Comments made on this inquiry by Senators and Representatives show they realize fully that a great test is coming between the Roosevelt administration and the capitalists of the country, to which the Northern Securities Company suit and the Standard Oil prosecutions were only the prelude.

It is repeatedly remarked here that if the administration can, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, press its investigation home and show that Harriman and those associated with him are violating the law, the next step that must be taken in obedience to the public opinion created, is to proceed and subdivide into its original parts the great system that Harriman has welded together.

If this can be done, the next step, according to members of Congress will bring the administration face to face with the proposition whether it will adopt the policy of William J. Bryan, declared in his Madison Square Garden speech, last August, of destroying the trusts "root and branch."

The President's policy heretofore has been to regulate the trusts, and make them obey the law without destroying them. He has looked upon industrial combination as a good thing, if not used to oppress the public.

The gravest expressions are heard from prominent men here as to how far the present crusade will swerve the President from his former policy. If he fails to change conditions in transcontinental railroading, he may have to confess defeat, and this would be taken to mean that the railroads had made headway against the powers of the commission.

Another matter the commission will take up is the great increase of the capital stock of railroads, the great increase in dividends, and the failure of any corresponding benefit to the traveler and shipper in a reduction of rates for passengers and freight.

All the time these investigations have been going on, the commission has been flooded with appeals of all sorts from shippers and others for redress of grievances.

There is a conflict between the railroads and the commission over these complaints. The commission is beginning to suspect the railroads are doing somethings to make the rate law unpopular, and one of the commissioners made no concealment, last week, of his belief that some of the roads were in a conspiracy to make the public believe the law was not operative.

ROBBERY WAS HIS MOTIVE.

MAN WHO BLEW UP BANK NOT A "CRANK."

Police Convinced He Had an Accomplice, and That Plan Was Laid for Partner to Gather Up Money During Confusion—Dead Man's Room Searched.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All doubt of the identity of the man who hurled a bomb in the Fourth Street National Bank, killing Cashier McLear and himself, and wounding almost a score, was removed today by the finding of some of his clothing, marked "R. Steele," in a room he occupied while in this city.

In a brown satchel, which he left in the room on Saturday morning, were six long electric fuses, with loaded caps, four yards of dynamite fuse, a box of cartridges and a revolver. This outfit convinced the police Steele was something more than a weak-minded crank. They are convinced the man came here with the definite intention of robbing the bank, that he came to meet an accomplice and that it was planned that Steele would throw a bomb into one portion of the bank, trusting to his accomplice to gather the money during the confusion following.

The bomb thrower slept Friday night at the Grant House, a hostelry on the outskirts of the Tenderloin, frequented mostly by respectable working people. He registered as J. R. Steele of New York and carried a grip which he refused to allow the colored porter to carry to a room.

When detectives searched his room today they found several yards of slow fuse, a number of detonating caps, a revolver and a box of cartridges, together with a number of tools and some clothing. There was a suit bearing the tag of a Chicago clothinghouse and a pair of overalls, marked with a Lynchburg, Va., merchant.

William J. Crump, a negro messenger in the bank and bodyguard of President Richard H. Rust of the institution who is the most seriously injured, was today operated on. His condition was such, a few hours after the explosion that he was reported dead, but he rallied and the physicians operated in an effort to save his eye sight, though his eyes will never regain their normal condition.

HIS WIDOW TALKS.

"CHRISTMAS CAUSED IT."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Rolla Steele, widow of the dead Philadelphia bomb thrower, says Steele might have got into a frame of mind prompting him to throw the bomb because he was not able to come home and spend Christmas with his family.

"I know how my husband must have felt," she said, "when he saw people buying Christmas presents, and saw holly wreaths and Christmas trees through the windows. He probably became morbid because he did not have money to buy presents, or come home, and brooded over the fact until he became desperate."

COPPER AT TOP NOTCH.

Reaches Twenty-five-Cent Mark, the Highest in Score of Years, and May Go Higher.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The past week has been marked by the maintenance of the 25 cent rate for copper on the metal market, which is the highest in over twenty years. The demand is so great that practically none can be purchased for spot delivery in any part of the United States. All producing companies say the outlook is that the price will hold to 25 cents, and perhaps go higher.

The management of the Shannon Copper Company has begun active steps toward building a new railroad to connect its mines with the smelter, independent of the Coronado. The railroad has sent its surveying corps into the field to run the new line through the mountains, where floods cannot interfere.

THREE KILLED IN FIRE.

DELHI (N. Y.) Jan. 6.—During a fire that destroyed the American hotel here today, William Winters and Mrs. Anna Winters and John O'Connor, were suffocated.

BURNED TO DEATH ON LOS ANGELES TRAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Pullman sleeper on the Union Pacific-Northwestern "Los Angeles Limited" train, No. 8, which left Omaha for Chicago this morning at 4:30 o'clock, caught fire a few miles this side of Missouri Valley, Iowa, and was burned to the sills. One passenger was burned to death in the car, and other passengers were very slightly injured.

The dead:

LOUIS DELARCIO, Washington, D. C., clerk of the House Committee on Irrigation.

Injured:

O. H. JOHNSON, Salt Lake City, slight burns on neck and head.

HENRY CABROW, Salt Lake City, right wrist cut by glass.

MRS. B. HIGGINS, Carbondale, Pa., suffered from exposure.

The Northwestern train was within a mile of Loveland, near Missouri Valley, when passengers in the Pullman car Redfield were aroused by the smoke.

The origin of the fire could not be determined, but it had undoubtedly been smoldering some time before being discovered, as the car was filled with dense smoke, which suffocated the passengers.

Louis Delario, aged 38, whose home is in Laramie, Wyo., but who has for some time held the position of clerk of the House Committee on Irrigation, was dead when found.

The fire had started near, or in, his berth, and the flames had burned his body, almost denuding it, and causing some disfiguration.

The passengers in the burned car lost practically all the personal effects they had with them, most of them escaping in their sleeping clothes.

The cause of the fire is not known. It is said by the conductor and passengers to have originated inside the car, and apparently in one of the berths. One theory is that it started in a berth occupied by a woman with a small infant, who had been using an alcohol lamp to heat milk for the baby.

PEASANT LEADER DEAD.

Self-made Man, Once Power in Russian Life Among the Lowly, Succumbs to Punishments.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 6.—The death is reported in the province of Kiev, after a long illness, of Stephen Annikin, the foremost leader of the peasants, founder of the group of Toil and former member of the lower House of Parliament.

The Novoe Vremya expresses its sincere sorrow at the loss of this self-made man, who wielded the powers of his intellect among the peasants.

Annikin was born a peasant in 1864. He became a school teacher and was one of the prisoners in the revolutionary propaganda among the peasants. For this he suffered long terms of imprisonment and exile, which undermined his health.

BANDIT BATTLE BLOODLESS.

RAISULI'S STRONGHOLD IS CAPTURED BY MOORS.

Gunners Prove Inefficient, and Infantry Shoots Haphazard, and Robbers Escape Despite Elaborate Preparations and Confidence of the Ministers of War.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TANGIER, Jan. 6.—Zinat, Raisuli's stronghold, was virtually destroyed by fire and fell into the hands of the troops of the Sultan at noon today after a short and almost bloodless fight.

Raisuli and his 700 followers succeeded in escaping to the mountains in spite of the elaborate preparations of War Minister Gabbas.

No firing took place last night, but at 10 o'clock this morning the artillery opened on the town. The Moorish gunners showed utter incapacity in handling their guns and the infantry fired haphazard. Two shells dropped inside the fortress without reply, and thereupon a body of the Sultan's troops charged, shouting, and reached the walls amid desultory shots from the surrounding brush.

The town gates were open, but there were no occupants of the place except fifteen prisoners, included among whom were four Portuguese.

A detachment of the government troops continued firing in the direction of the mountains where Raisuli and his followers were observed fleeing. Meanwhile the other government troops pillaged the stronghold.

No fatalities in the fighting today were reported. It is thought probable that the Raisulites carried off their dead.

The Spanish officers of the international police created by the Algeciras convention, have arrived here and will take up their duties at the end of the month.

FIREMEN DIE UNDER CRASH.

THREE MEET DEATH BENEATH FALLING FLOORS.

Misunderstand Orders, or Fail to Obey Them, and Are Buried in Wreck of Building—One of Victims Had Just Distinguished Himself for Bravery in Saving Life.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three firemen were killed by the fall of floors in a six-story building at No. 54 Roosevelt street tonight, when they were leaving the place under orders which they had slightly misunderstood, or which they were not accurately obeying.

Lennon, one of the victims, had distinguished himself fifteen minutes prior to his own death, by the rescue of a comrade. When they were at the third floor, and about to descend to the second, the floor above them fell, carried down with it the third and second floors, and buried the three firemen under bricks and charred woodwork.

Prolonged efforts to find the bodies were made, but in vain, because of the heat and the size of the heap of ruins in which they were buried.

Just before the third floor of the five-story structure fell, all the men were ordered out of the building. Firemen Campbell, Siefert and Lennon, who had been working within the walls, failed to respond, and a subsequent round-up of the fire fighters established the fact that they were beyond doubt burned in the ruins.

Seven other firemen were injured, among them Battalion Chief Duffy, who had a narrow escape.

Battalion Chief O'Connor was overcome by smoke, and was rescued by firemen. Monetary loss $150,000.

"HELLO GIRLS" IN LUCK.

Boston Telephone Operators and the Brokers' Clerks Profit by the Copper Stock Boom.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some fortunes were made the past week by "hello girls" and clerks in brokers' offices by the boom in Trinity Copper stock when it showed fat profit.

One telephone girl made nearly $3000 from the Christmas money she received from the firm and its customers through keeping her ears open for "tips."

COLLISION DAMAGES VESSELS.

NAPLES, Jan. 6.—Lloyds reports that the North German Lloyd steamer Prinzess Irene, in leaving port Saturday night, for New York, was caught in a strong windstorm and damaged. She was obliged to reënter the harbor, and early this morning collided with the steamer Moltke. Both were damaged, and will be compelled to remain here for repairs.

DEFENSE INSANITY.

Thaw to Be Sent to an Asylum.

His Friends Let Him Believe "Unwritten Law" Will Be the Plea.

Senator Knox, It Is Declared, Convinces Mother of a Safer Plan.

How It Is Proposed to Keep White's Slayer from Paying Penalty.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] United States Senator P. C. Knox, it is said, has convinced Mrs. William Thaw that her proper plan is to let her son, Harry Thaw, understand that he will be tried for the murder of Stanford White, with the "unwritten law" plea as the defense; then, at the last moment, the plan is to have a commission appointed, after which Thaw may be whisked away to a criminal insane asylum and go into retirement until such time as it is considered propitious to ask for his trial after "recovering his reason."

With this plan, the fear of what C. J. Holman, his wife and stepson, Howard Nesbit, have to tell, will not bother the defense. It would eliminate a great many of the handicaps which Thaw's relatives have been trying to overcome.

WILL BE NO DEFENSE.

Thaw's relatives say there has been no attempt to outline a defense, and that there will be none, except the report of the alienists, who will go into the Supreme Court before Judge Fitzpatrick and assert that Henry Thaw is insane, [illegible] and that he will continue to be without his reason so long as he is confined in the Tombs, or in any other strictly penal institution.

Upon this testimony, which the Thaw family believes will not be contested by Dist.-Atty. Jerome, Thaw will be sent to Matteawan perhaps for five years, lead a life of ease and, it is declared, eventually be a free man.

INSANE AT TIME.

No attempt will be made to say that Thaw was insane when he committed the murder. It will simply record that he is insane now, and that he cannot be legally tried for the murder.

Later on, possibly in three or four years, it is said, Thaw will be removed from the criminal insane retreat, and brought back to the Tombs for trial. It will then be set up that he was insane at the time of the deed, and with the witnesses scattered, and other circumstances in his favor, Thaw will stand a good chance of acquittal.

Thaw will not have a word to say. He will be insane in the eyes of the court, and any protest he might make will not avail.

HARRIMAN ROAD INQUIRY.

Will Be Resumed at Chicago Wednesday With Prospects of More Important Showing.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Interstate Commerce Commission will meet at Chicago Wednesday, to resume the inquiry into the Harriman railroads. This hearing during two days in New York brought out some unusually interesting testimony, but the evidence yet to be presented is expected to be more important in showing in detail the financial operations of the big Harriman system.

GYMNASTIC HEROINE.

Second "Grace Darling" Adds Another Life to List of Rescues.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Ida Lewis, keeper of the Lime Rocks lighthouse, and known all along the coast as the "Grace Darling of America," added another life to her list of rescues today in a manner most unique and daring. She rescued her personal friend, Mrs. Robert T. Walker, who, while attempting to leap from a boat to the pier, caught her foot in the piling and hung face downward, with the rising tide lapping her chin. Miss Lewis hung from the pier, and exerting her entire strength, managed to pull Mrs. Walker out, and with a sister's help, landed her on the wharf.

KNOCKING OUT "BACK STAMP."

Uncle Sam Not Interested in "Keeping Tab."

Postal Clerks' Salaries to Receive Attention.

Growth of the Mail Service. Congress Programme.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A proposition to increase postal clerks' salaries and the proposed abandonment of the "back stamp" on letters are discussed by First Assistant Postmaster-General Hitchcock in his annual report. Parts of the report given out in advance have already been handled by the Associated Press.

The report shows that at the close of the fiscal year, 65,600 postoffices were in operation, and the total number of employés, not including postmasters and assistant postmasters, was nearly 150,000. The total personnel of postoffices of all classes aggregated 208,288.

The gain in postoffice revenue during the year, about $15,000,000, was unexpectedly large, and the returns for the present fiscal year thus far indicate that the unprecedented gain is being maintained. So great is this gain, Mr. Hitchcock points out, that the additional appropriation requested of Congress scarcely will be sufficient to maintain the service.

In view of the large increase of the business of the department, Mr. Hitchcock says, a larger administration organization is imperative. He urges that the present force of his bureau be strengthened by the appointment of additional high-grade men and the appointment of a larger force of field agents to keep the department in closer touch with the postal needs of the country.

EFFICIENCY OF EMPLOYEES.

The report indicates that, in order to secure more effective cooperation in the administration of the postal service, greater authority and responsibility should be conferred on the postmaster. During the past year, the department has given much study to introducing the uniform system of recognizing efficiency of employés. "Efficiency," says Mr. Hitchcock, "should be made the important factor in regulating compensation of postoffice employés. All promotions should be based on merit, and no favoritism of any kind should be permitted."

PLACING OF OFFICES.

Study of the location of postoffices with relation to railroad facilities has occupied much time during the year.

"The desirability of placing the main office," says the report, "in such proximity to the principal railway station that the mail can be delivered from the train to the working room without intermediate hauling is becoming more generally recognized. Steps have already been taken to secure a number of postoffice sites at points immediately adjacent to railway terminals. This plan will eliminate the heavy wagon service, a service that unquestionably represents the slowest stage in the present system of city mail distribution."

UNIFORM BOX RENT.

The department has established a uniform rent for postoffice boxes, eliminating entirely the dissimilarity of charges heretofore prevailing. The rate is made according to a carefully graduated scale and runs from 10 cents a quarter in small fourth-class offices to $4 a quarter in the New York City office.

USE OF AUTOMOBILES.

Mr. Hitchcock reports that the use of specially-equipped automobiles in the collection service in Baltimore has proved so successful that the department is planning for a similar collection service in several other cities. It is believed that in large cities automobiles can advantageously be substituted to a considerable extent for the horsecarts now employed so generally in collecting mail. By the use of automobile vehicles, a much speedier collection service can be adopted without added expense. Unquestionably the motor vehicle can be made an important factor in the postal service, as it already is in other business enterprises.

Mr. Hitchcock says while the gross receipts of city delivery offices are 6.4 per cent. greater than in the preceding year, the cost of the service was but 5.7 per cent. more than in 1905, and the average per cent. of the cost of service to gross receipts was but 18.13, as against 19.05 in 1905.

UNITED STATES LETTING IN A LOT OF FOREIGNERS.

Over One Million Foreigners Admitted Last Year, a Large Gain Over the Preceding Year—Italy, Russia, Greece and Turkey Furnished Largest Percentage.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, produced a record, eclipsing all former figures on the subject of immigration, according to the annual report of Frank Sargent, Commissioner-General of Immigration. During that period, the report says, the population of the United States was increased by the admission of 1,109,375 immigrant aliens, and 65,618 non-immigrant aliens entered at its ports, making the total admission 1,166,353. The increase over last year's record of 1,059,755 was 106,598.

During the fiscal year 1906, the department rejected 11,499 aliens, and during the past year 12,432 of the immigrant aliens, that is, those who intended settling in the United States.

FORMER SOURCES BEHIND.

"Without exception," the report says, "the countries from which we formerly obtained the greater part of our foreign population, and which are inhabited by races nearly akin to our own, have supplied us with smaller numbers during the past year than during 1905—Ireland, 17,350; England 15,216; Sweden, 8281; Germany, 3010; Denmark, 1225, and Scotland 1111 less. On the other hand, the four most considerable gains are: Italy, 51,461; Russia, 30,748; Greece, 8374, and Turkey, 8165.

The immigration from Austria-Hungary amounted to 265,128; Italy, including Sicily and Sardinia, 273,120; Russia and Finland, 215,565; China, 1544; Japan, 15,535, and the West Indies, 11,664.

RESTLESS LABOR.

The immigration from Southern and Eastern Europe, the commissioner says, is a result of general unrest existing among the laboring class. The commissioner says that drastic measures are required to effect a discontinuance of the steamship practices.

"That the physical and mental quality of the aliens we are now receiving is much below that of those who have come in former years," he says, "is evident."

The North Atlantic and North Central States, together, received 90 per cent. of the entire immigration of 1906, the South 4 per cent.

This report refers to what the commissioner believes to have been extensive schemes to secure foreign labor brought to light in the past year, and now being investigated. The evidence is already at hand, the report says, to show that some individuals or corporation is engaged in importing numbers of Japanese laborers to work on the railroads of the Northwest. These Japanese come to Hawaii destined to "hotels" kept by labor agents, and claim that they are merely seeking labor that may be secured on the islands. They are admitted to the islands, and after remaining a few days or weeks there, they ship for northwestern mainland ports.

Having been admitted at the Hawaiian ports, their voyage thence is "coastwise," and they cannot be excluded on arrival at the mainland ports under the alien labor contract or any other provision of the immigration laws.

JAP IMMIGRATION DROPS.

Japanese immigration direct to San Francisco from Japan dropped during the year to very small figures, doubtless, the report says, from causes similar to those just refered to. The immigration commissioner at San Francisco reports that Japanese have been arriving there coastwise from Honolulu and from Canadian ports at the rate of 1000 to 2000 per month. The report says: "That several laborers have been imported under this evasion of the law is not doubted."

Accommodations at Ellis Island, according to the report, are entirely inadequate for the inspection work.

CHINESE EXCLUSION LAW.

The Chinese exclusion law and the main difficulties attending its enforcement are discussed. The commissioner recommends stationing officers to investigate and approve certificates issued by the Chinese government to the exempt classes, such plan to supersede that of having the investigation made by United States consular officers. Greatly-improved conditions resulted from the President's orders of last spring, instructing consular officers as to their duties concerning these certificates.

Various methods are pointed out in the report by which the Chinese seek to enter the country in violation of the law, under the guise of domiciled merchants, etc. Complete and detailed registration of all Chinese in the United States is again recommended. Any Chinese laborer found in the United States a year after the registration act who has not a residence certificate and is found to be unlawfully here, should, the report says, be deported.

The commissioner reports that on the Mexican border Chinese coolies are constantly being smuggled into this country from Mexico.

Other regulations are designed to prevent the admission of Chinese minor children and attaching severe penalties for permitting Chinese seamen to land. The commissioner again recommends increasing the penalties on steamship companies for bringing aliens afflicted with dangerous or loathsome diseases. The President's suggestion for closing the Mexican border to all aliens except citizens of Mexico is also urged.

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

During the early part of the year, the report says, the "white slave" traffic was extensively revived. Many of the girls and women imported for immoral purposes were brought through Mexico, and secured a right to citizenship by marrying Chinese born in this country.

TESTING POWER OF EXECUTIVE.

BROWNSVILLE EPISODE PARAMOUNT INTEREST.

Will Come Up Today and Hold Front Place for Several Days—Mr. Overman to Discuss State's Rights and Mr. Gearin the Japanese Question—Army Bill in the House.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The discussion of the episode in Brownsville, Tex., which resulted in the discharge of three companies of negro troops, will continue this week, the topic of paramount interest in the Senate. The question will come up Monday, and the present indications are that it will continue to hold a front place for three or four days. The introduction of Senator Lodge's amendment to Senator Foraker's resolution will have the effect of injecting a great deal of new matter into the discussion and of shifting the debate from the mere question of facts in connection with the Brownsville affair to the subject of the general right of the President to dismiss soldiers.

RIGHT OF DISMISSAL.

As originally presented, Mr. Foraker's resolution called for an inquiry into the shooting-up of Brownsville, but if Mr. Lodge's amendment is accepted, it will amount to a declaration of the President's right of dismissal regardless of facts, and on this account will be opposed by some Senators who would have stood with the President in opposition to the resolution as originally reported. On the other hand, some are willing to vote for the amendment who oppose the inquiry.

It is quite well understood that Senator Foraker will antagonize the amendment as inopportune, though it is not believed that he would allow its acceptance to stand in the way of his advocacy of the adoption of his resolution. He takes the position that whatever may be the prerogative of the Chief Executive in the matter of the dismissal of troops, the question is not pertinent at this time, and he will seek to have the two questions of Presidential right and fact separated.

LODGE'S CONTENTION.

Senator Lodge will contend that the President's authority in the matter is of first importance, and in this the Massachusetts Senator will be supported by Senator Spooner and a number of other Senators on both sides of the chamber. Many Democratic Senators will favor the Lodge amendment. They support the President's position, and are willing to follow his leadership in the entire matter. Senator Foraker will probably be supported by a few Democrats and a large percentage of Republicans.

CAN PUT THROUGH PROMPTLY.

There is comparatively little new to the proposed inquiry, and the probabilities are that the resolution will be promptly disposed of as soon as the Lodge amendment is voted upon, whether it is retained or omitted.

Senator Tillman is one of the few Southern Democrats who criticise the President's action, and it is understood that he will give strenuous support to Mr. Foraker's effort to secure an investigation. The debate will be largely along legal lines, but there can be little doubt that there will be sufficient departure from this course to render it of exceptional interest.

GEARIN ON JAPANESE.

Senator Hale has practically secured unanimous consent to giving the Brownsville question right of way during the morning hours of each day, until it is disposed of, but it is not believed that there will be any effort on his part to displace a speech by Senator Gearin on the Japanese question. Mr. Gearin probably will be heard Monday morning. If the Oregon Senator should postpone his speech, the Brownsville question will have the first consideration of the day.

OTHER EVENTS.

Other events set down for the week in the Senate are a speech Tuesday by Mr. Overman on the question of States' rights, growing out of the Japanese agitation; a speech by Mr. McCumber in support of his service pension bill, and a vote Thursday on Senator La Follette's measure regulating the hours of service on railroads. It is expected that the legislative appropriation bill will be reported to the Senate during the week.

DUTIES OF THE HOUSE.

The House will begin its duties of the week by devoting Monday to the consideration of bills taken up under a suspension of the rules, and will probably enter upon consideration of private bills Tuesday.

The army bill will be reported to the House Monday, and this will be the first of the supply measures to receive attention. It will be followed by the fortification bill, and that bill will be succeeded in turn by the bill making appropriations for the District of Columbia.

There is a prospect of a clash between the Committee on Appropriations which reports the fortifications bill and the Committee on Military Affairs, which has in charge the bill making appropriations for the support of the army. There is a difference of opinion between the two committees as to amount necessary for maintaining the fortifications, and the prospect is good for an airing of these differences.

BUSINESS IN COMMITTEE.

Committees will be busy at both ends of the capitol during the week in preparing legislation for the remainder of the session. Among the measures which will receive committee attention in the House is the ship subsidy bill. There is renewed effort to secure a compromise on this measure, and some prospect in that direction. The supporters of the general policy of subsidizing American vessels have indicated an unwillingness to accept a provision for a mail and cargo subsidy to South American countries, and the Orient.

BANK FOR FILIPINOS.

EGYPT'S WAY SUGGESTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—An agricultural bank in the Philippines similar to that established in Egypt is advocated by E. W. Kemmerer.

He went to Egypt as a special commissioner of the Philippine government, and has just made a report to Secretary Taft and the Philippine Commission on his investigation of the Egyptian bank.

WORLD'S MANUFACTURES.

UNITED STATES RANKS THIRD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A statement issued today by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor announces that this country ranks third in the value of manufactures entering the world's international commerce, the amount of its exports for the past year having aggregated more than seven hundred million dollars.

The exports have never even approximated these figures before, and the value of American trade in the foreign trade, the report adds, is twice as great now as eight years ago.

COREY AND GILMANS.

They Dine Together in Paris, and May Wed in London, but Date's Not Fixed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Jan. 6.—Whether W. E. Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, will marry Maybelle Gilman, the American singer, before he returns to the United States cannot be ascertained definitely.

When Corey arrived here, a week ago, it was understood that the wedding would not take place during the present week, and as late as last Wednesday, Miss Gilman told intimate friends that the date of the ceremony had not been fixed. If these plans have been changed, the wedding probably will take place in England, in order to obviate the vexatious formality of the French law.

Corey has taken no special pains to hide his movements, or to conceal the facts of his engagement to Miss Gilman. She and Corey, accompanied by Miss Gilman's mother, take daily automobile trips, and Corey frequently dines with mother and daughter at some fashionable restaurant.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bill has been introduced in the Rhode Island Legislature the purpose of which is practically to exclude Gen. Braton from the Capitol. It is styled "the anti-lobby bill," and provides that no professional lobbyist shall occupy the anterooms or lobby of the Senate during the sessions.

The bill follows out an attack made by Gov. Higgins in his message to the General Assembly last week.

FRANCE CEDES TAUTUI?

HARRIMAN IMPROVING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—At the residence of E. H. Harriman tonight it was said that Mr. Harriman, who underwent an operation about a week ago, was, in the opinion of his physicians, doing very well. Mr. Harriman, it was added, was down to dinner today. The physicians say that he needs absolute rest for perhaps a week or ten days.

ANARCHISTS CAUGHT IN POLICE DRAGNET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Emma Goldman, the most notorious of women anarchists in America, during an address this afternoon to 600 followers in Clinton Hall, was arrested and her "life mate," Alexander Berkman, who attempted to assassinate Henry C. Frick, steel manufacturer, in 1892; John Coryell, aged 55, chairman of the meeting, and Israel Schwarbe, aged 15, were caught in the net.

Cat-calls, hisses and denunciations greeted the policemen as they rushed to the platform. Berkman jumped from his seat on the platform and urged Emma Goldman to resist them, and Schwarbe rushed from his seat in the audience and did likewise, shaking his fists in the faces of the policemen.

Emma Goldman, Berkman and Coryell were charged with having violated section No. 405 of the Penal Code, which makes it a felony to give utterance from a public platform to speeches of an incendiary nature, likely to incite the auditors to violence against the government.

Emma Goldman and Berkman were later admitted to bail, a bond of $2000 in each case being furnished.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The spring weather which Chicago has enjoyed during the past few days will be dissipated, tomorrow, by a slight cold wave and some rain, according to the forecast. The wind will shift from the south to the north. The maximum temperature today was 50 degs. and the minimum 40. Middle West temperatures, the dash indicating below zero:

THAT GUTHRIE BOULDER.

The twenty-ton Guthrie boulder, placed in a grave plot in Lake Shore Cemetery to commemorate Dr. Ossian Guthrie, by his two sons, Frank and Charles, is once more in the limelight. This time, Attorney James R. Ward, who was instrumental in getting the perpetual injunction which protects the monument against its foes, sues the Guthries to get $1000 counsel fees.

FOUGHT TO HEAR PREACHER.

Fifteen thousand men and women, determined to hear "Gypsie" Smith preach, converted Congress street and Wabash avenue into a raving flood of humanity that broke all barriers, swept aside the police as if they were men of straw, and fought its way into the Auditorium Theater when the doors were opened this afternoon. Seldom since the days of Moody, the great evangelist, has such a scene been witnessed in Chicago. Congress street was blocked with people from Michigan avenue to Wabash.

DOCTOR WON'T GIVE UP.

Fearing a term in jail of an indefinite period, Dr. Harry W. Fox of Forty-seventh street, for whom a warrant was sworn out for criminal practice in connection with the death of Miss Emily Miller, advised Inspector Shippy over the telephone today, that he will not give himself up. The doctor insists that he is innocent, and as he is unable to secure a bondsman, he is not disposed to remain in a cell at the pleasure of the police.

HIGHEST DECEMBER MORTALITY.

Unseasonable weather in December is held responsible for the fact that the month furnished the highest December mortality rate in Chicago of the decade with only two exceptions. The 2878 deaths from all causes reported to the Bureau of Vital Statistics report an average rate of 18.39 per 1000 of the population.

LIFE-TERMERS GOING MAD IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Legislative Investigations to Be Made to Ascertain the Cause—Fourteen of the Cases Are Those of Murderers and One That of a Highway Robber.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Legislative investigation soon is to be made into the mystery of so much insanity at the Massachusetts State Prison among life-term convicts.

Fifteen life convicts have become insane, some two years ago, some five years ago, and have been transferred to Bridgewater State Farm for the benefit of outdoor life and work.

The insanity cases are a mystery in the main, though some men had the trace of derangement when sentenced. All cases shown are those of murderers, except one, of a highway robber.

As prisoners are well cared for and well treated, having a staunch friend in Warden Bridges, the question has caused much comment.

Lieutenant and the Woman Who Eloped With Him Are in Deepest Poverty, Though She Has Rights to a Quarter of a Million—He Talks of Suicide.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Melbourne says that Lieut. Gabriel Essipoff and Mme. Ouchakoff, wife of Gen. Ouchakoff of the Russian army, who eloped last year and were followed to the United States and back to Europe by Gen. Ouchakoff, are in the deepest poverty. Their trinkets, he says, have been pledged to raise money.

Mme. Ouchakoff is seeking employment as a domestic, while the lieutenant talks of committing suicide.

Mme. Ouchakoff, the correspondent continues, offers to agree to a divorce and to surrender her right to a fortune of $250,000, which will be hers on the death of her mother. She would then marry Lieut. Essipoff.

The Daily Mail's correspondent at St. Petersburg says that Gen. Ouchakoff was at Tsarkoe-Selo Saturday.

WOLVES GO FOR CITY.

Invade Streets, Terrorize People, and Chase Man Up a Tree.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A heavy snow, with cold weather, has driven wolves and coyotes into the towns in such numbers that women and children are terrorized. The animals are in search of food, and are so bold that they invade the busiest streets of this city. A big fellow was chased out of town last night by an improvised hunting party.

Saturday evening, Willis Underwood was attacked by three wolves and took refuge in a tree. If the wolves continue to seek the cities, armed guards will be posted at the outskirts.

TONGUE GIFT IS DENOUNCED.

MINISTERS OF AKRON CRITICISE QUEER SECT.

Mrs. Iva Campbell, Missionary in Ohio, from Los Angeles, Was First White Woman to Claim the "Gift of Tongues" in Azusa Street Church—Great Excitement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AKRON (O.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ministers of Akron today rose up in indignation against a new religious sect, the converts of which claim the "gift of tongues." From several pulpits adverse criticism of the creed which is rapidly spreading throughout the State, was unreservedly made. Rev. Ambrose Bailey, formerly of the Second Baptist Church, Monroe street, Chicago, gave the subject considerable attention.

"If any one wants the gift of tongues let them read Corinthians, first book, twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth chapters," he said; "if you want the gift of tongues after that, God help you. These people are mistaken."

The first to receive "the gift" was Iva Campbell, Los Angeles, who is now conducting large meetings here every night. Converts lay prostrate upon the pulpit crying for the "gift."

"GIFT" MISSIONARY.

MRS. CAMPBELL FIRST HERE.

Mrs. Iva Campbell, who was the first white woman in Los Angeles to claim the "gift of tongues," is a member of the Azusa-street church here, and was one of the principal speakers during the early meetings.

Her "gift" consisted in her ability to babble a jargon of strange sounds. She created a sensation among the ignorant negroes on Azusa street shortly after the San Francisco disaster. She is a large woman with a mass of chestnut hair. She is a fluent speaker, and is regarded as a leader among the members of the strange church.

Soon after receiving the "blessing," Mrs. Campbell forsook her former associates and went to live at the barn-like structure on Azusa street. She occupied a room above the meeting place and devoted every moment of her time to the propagation of the tenets of the new religionists.

She was severely criticised by church people here because of her erratic preaching and her wild claims. Five weeks ago she left Los Angeles as a missionary of the church. She was commissioned by leaders Seymour and Smith.

Soon after she joined the church other white women followed her example. Many young white girls were seized with a desire to become members. The attention of the police was called to the manner the negro elders had of "laying on of hands," and the wholesale practice of "converting" the young women stopped.

News of the "success" of Iva Campbell reached the meeting at Azusa street last night. Excitement was intensified when Leader Seymour declared the woman has "saved fifty souls in Akron." Men and women prostrated themselves upon the floor and uttered strange sounds. Several swooned.

The meeting was continued until midnight, and a score, among whom were at least a dozen young girls, came forward and claimed the "gift of tongues."

The meeting last night was more riotous than for some time past. Of late interest in the strange doctrines taught by the one-eyed negro preacher has subsided. The news from Ohio instilled new life into the gathering.

A young negro who was arrested at Whittier a few days ago for preaching on the streets there, declared his intention of at once returning to "tell the good news."

The man became wildly excited as he spoke of his recent trial. He denounced the court and called the jury which heard the case, "the devil's own workmen."

His words were received with demonstrations of joy, and several volunteered to help "carry on the work" in Whittier.

The work of rescue in connection with the cave-in Saturday at Bingen, Germany, of the cut on the new railway line between Lamasacheid, and Leiningen, when a number of workmen were buried, was discontinued last night as a new fall of dirt was threatened. Up to the time of the cessation of work, fifteen bodies had been recovered.

RATS ATE DYNAMITE.

Bay State Man Fears to Attack Them Lest They Blow Up Barn.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WORCESTER (Mass.) Jan. 6. [Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles B. Dana of Oxford has a barn full of rats. During the last month they have eaten ten pounds of dynamite which was stored in his barn for the winter by a contractor.

The condition of affairs has driven Dana to the verge of nervous prostration.

"I am afraid to throw a brick at the pesky critters for fear that they will explode and blow up the barn," he says.

SNOW FALL IN SANTA CLARA.

Temperature Is Near to the Freezing Point.

Bitter Cold Rains in North California.

Mantle of "Beautiful" Is in Many Places.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All California, north of the Tehachepi, experienced very cold weather today, with frost and snow in several places. The Coast Range mountains, back of Ashland, are white with snow, and the signal man predicts snow for tomorrow for San Francisco. Three inches of snow fell in Napa, and three feet at Sisson. The snowfall in the Sierra Nevadas is very heavy.

Unusually cold weather is prevailing and for the first time since 1895 snow was visible today on the hills surrounding San Francisco Bay, and over the upper end of Santa Clara Valley. In this city a cold rain fell this forenoon, and tonight the temperature has fallen to near the freezing point. The Weather Bureau has sent warnings to orange growers to expect a frost. They are advised to smudge.

On the summit of Mount Hamilton the snow is reported to be five feet deep. Snow fell all over Northern California, and in the Napa and Sacramento valleys. A cold rain fell in the San Joaquin Valley.

SNOWSTORM AT NAPA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NAPA, Jan. 6.—The heaviest snowstorm which has visited Napa for oven ten years began early this morning, and continued at intervals during the entire day. Over four inches of snow fell and as soon as the snow was deep enough in the streets many people took the wheels off the body part of their buggies and placed the latter on runners, thus enjoying in many cases a sleigh ride in the main portion of the town. Snowballs were thrown thick and fast and many large and heavy plate-glass windows and doors about town were broken.

COLDEST RAINFALL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, Jan. 6.—Stockton experienced the coldest rainfall for many seasons today. During a storm which started shortly after noon, the thermometer went down to 45 deg., and as the storm progressed the air was frequently dotted with large flakes of snow. Not enough snow fell, however, to show on the ground.

Reports from up country are to the effect that the snowfall was very heavy in the foothills.

SNOW AT MARYSVILLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 6.—Snow began falling about noon and continued until 6 o'clock. Two inches cover the ground. This snowstorm was of the longest duration experienced here since 1874. Such storms have occurred on the average of once in ten years.

Snow falling made things lively on the streets, old and young taking part in the unusual pastime. Many windows were broken. A warm rain tonight quickly melted the snow.

COLD AND SNOWY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

REDDING, Jan. 6.—Two inches of snow fell in Redding today. All communication north of Redding was cut off and traffic was suspended. Snow is falling at all points north. It is unusually cold.

SAN JOSE COLD SNAP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Jan. 6.—Today was bitterly cold, the temperature dropping to 28 deg., and in the foothills to 20 deg. A blizzard raged at the top of Mount Hamilton, where the snow at noon today was five feet deep. A cold rain that at times changed to snow, fell for several hours over the city.

SACRAMENTO'S STORM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6.—For nearly an hour today, beginning at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon, the people of Sacramento were treated to a genuine snowstorm, the first since 1882. Large damp flakes filled the air, but as the snow was preceded by rain and the thermometer registered 33 deg., the snow melted as rapidly as it fell, except on plots heavily covered with grass. Although there was no chance for snowballing, there was much excitement.

GREEKS MEET BRAVE IRISH.

ONE SON O' ERIN HOLDS A BIG GANG AT BAY.

Man Is Killed Who Causes the Trouble—With Sledge Hammer Buehley Beats Mob Back—Hack Driver Shoots Two Women and Ends His Own Life.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A gang of Greek laborers, working on the United Railroads' tracks, today mobbed Foreman Maurice Buehley because he discharged one of their number, and in the mêlee, Markos Ronhatos, a discharged laborer, was killed by a brick intended for Buehley.

The Greeks numbered 1341, and were employed to clear out the old cable slots on Valencia street. Buehley, who is a big Irishman, discharged Ronhatos because he was "soldiering." This made his fellow Greeks ugly, and one of Ronhatos's friends, W. Christos, got on top of a dirt pile and made an impassioned address, urging the gang to wipe out Buehley.

The excitable Greeks responded, and made a rush for the Irish foreman, throwing bricks and pieces of railroad iron. One of the bricks struck Ronhatos on the head, killing him instantly. Buehley retreated to Bishop's saloon, across the street, but was followed by a yelling mob.

Inside of the saloon, Buehley armed himself with a sledge-hammer and kept the crowd at bay until the police arrived. He had beaten off the Greeks before him, but none of them were seriously hurt. A bartender, upon whom Buehley called to help him, let himself down through the back door into a cellar where he awaited the result of the fight.

KILLS WOMAN AND SELF.

ALSO WOUNDS HIS WIFE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fred B. Martin, former salesman of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company, and a hack driver, tonight shot and killed his sister-in-law, Miss Emma Helms, wounded his wife and then shot himself. Miss Helms and Martin died immediately, but Mrs. Martin will recover. The shooting was caused by the refusal of Mrs. Martin to be reconciled to her husband, with whom she had not lived for months. The wife's sister was blamed by Martin for the estrangement.

PANAMA LINER SAFE IN PORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6.—According to a telegram from Mazatlan sent to the Associated Press, the City of Panama arrived at that port at 6 o'clock this afternoon. She experienced a rough trip, but sustained only slight damage. All on board were safe.

MURDERS TWO WOMEN.

REFUGEE CAMP TRAGEDY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Emil Radley tonight shot and killed Mrs. Martha Kruger, wife of Herman Kruger, a bartender, and her sister, Elizabeth Kelly, aged 16. The tragedy occurred on Buchanan street, near the Jefferson Square refugee camp.

Mrs. Kruger and Miss Kelly were daughters of Mrs. Mary E. Kelly, a refugee in the Jefferson Square camp, whose cottage recently was removed from the camp because she refused to pay rent or move.

For some time, it is said, there has been trouble in the family, and today he was heard making threats that he would wipe out the entire family.

A few minutes before the tragedy, Radley, badly intoxicated, met Mrs. Trugeger and her sister at Golden Gate avenue and Octavia street, and had walked about a block with them when he suddenly whipped out a revolver and in quick succession shot the two women through the heart and then fired a third bullet into his head. The street was crowded with pedestrians at the time.

Radley was taken to the hospital, where it is said he can live but a few hours.

THREE MEN ARRESTED.

ACCUSED OF ROBBERY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Jan. 6.—Three prominent mining engineers in the employ of the Wingfield-Nixon Consolidated Mines merger, were arrested last night on the charge of forcibly entering a miner's cabin and after searching the premises, robbing the occupant of $26.75. The supposition among miners is that they were searching for stolen high-grade ore. The action of the miner in causing their arrest is thought to be backed by the miners' union.

CRIME BRIEFS.

City Marshal Shot.

CAMERON (Mo.) Jan. 6.—Jackson Smith, City Marshal of Cameron, was shot and fatally wounded here at 10 o'clock last night in a street fight in front of the Cameron House by Odie Snow, a young farmer. Snow was wounded by the Marshal, but escaped, and is supposed to be headed for St. Joseph.

Negro Robber Caught.

SEATTLE, Jan. 6.—A. W. Clay, a negro caught in the act of attempting to tear the earrings from Mrs. Rosy Blum on Fifth avenue, South, tonight, was rescued by the police just in time to save him from summary punishment at the hands of ansry citizens. The woman was carrying a small child in her arms at the time. The negro was beaten before the police arrived.

EMPRESS STETMER FAST.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Jan. 6.—The steamer Empress of Japan passed Carmanah, in-bound at 6:45 o'clock this evening, making the fastest run made by any of the Empress steamers since the new over-seas mail service was commenced last summer. The voyage from Yokohama to quarantine here was made in less than eleven days. The steamer's record is ten days, ten hours.

RATHER DIE THAN FIGHT.

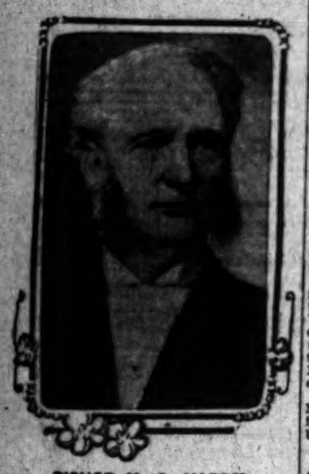
Hari-Kari for Togo Before Firing on Americans.

Bishop Harris Brings Peace Message from Japan.

Preaches a Startling Sermon Upon Situation.

"Japan does not want war with America. The sentiment there is not hostile to the United States. This war talk is absurd."

Bishop M. C. Harris, head of the Methodist church in Japan, made the above statement during an interview yesterday.



BISHOP M. C. HARRIS, who brings peace message from Japan.

"There may be friction and slight misunderstandings, but there will not be war," declared the bishop. "The Japanese people admire and love Americans. They have no thought of turning their guns against us. The soldiers of Japan have laid down their arms and are at work. They do not want to fight us.

"Statesmen of Japan do not regard war with this country as a possibility. They are cultivating the arts of peace and the relations between Japan and America are to become more and more friendly."

There is perhaps no other man in this country who is better qualified to give a correct statement of the situation in the Land of Nippon than Bishop Harris. He has spent the active years of his life there, has become intimately acquainted with the life of the people, speaks their language, and is loved and admired by them.

Though he has spent so many years in a foreign land Bishop Harris is an American. Love of country glows in his strong face, and his eyes shine with patriotic fire as he tells of the triumphs of Americans abroad.

THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE.

The bishop declares the awakening in the Far East is startling. The youth of the Mikado's realm, he says, are thirsting for knowledge.

He is a firm believer in the future of the country, but he does not see in the rapid advancement of Japan any cause for alarm. He bespeaks the most friendly interest on the part of the Japanese for this country, and says the desire is to learn more of our civilization.

Though he is most enthusiastic in his statements Bishop Harris is careful of his words. He will return almost immediately to the Land of the Chrysanthemum and may be called to account for any rash statement he might make.

There is no hesitancy on the part of the bishop when he declares there is no prospect of war. So emphatic is he that yesterday he said:

"Why, Admiral Togo and his men would sooner commit hari-kari than turn their ships against our navy."

He will leave for Japan Tuesday morning. After his arrival in Tokio he will complete arrangements for the organization of the Methodist church of Japan. This will take place in May. At that time the Canadian Methodist, the South Methodist, and the Methodist Episcopal churches of the empire will fuse into the larger body. This will be the first time a Christian church has been organized under a pagan government.

Dr. McIntyre extended greetings to the bishop at the service yesterday morning in the First Methodist church. These are to be presented to the Japanese Methodist church at the services in May. There was a congregation of 2000 people. Bishop Harris delivered a remarkable sermon. He said in part.

SAW NEW BIRTH OF NATION.

"I am on my way back to Japan and my report to you is startling. I landed in Japan while the old civilization existed. It was finely wrought out, yet I saw that old structure razed to the ground in one generation. It's a wonderful thing to see a people come to life. Confusianism brought over from China only remains in its best elements. The old order is passing away.

"What of that titanic struggle between Japan and Russia. That Japan is alive today is a marvel of marvels to me. Yet all Japan is now busily at work. You can't find a loafer there.

"I am only just out of the heart of Korea where the new life has entered the palace and peasants' hut. The ancient empire is trembling in its awakening from the lethargic sleep of 4000 years.

"Jesus Christ is the hope of the Far East. Without the Nazarene and the inspiration of His life, there would be no New East. Christianity, in less than a generation, has triumphed in Japan. In May the Methodist Church of Japan will be formed. The creation of this great body is a wonderful step in the religious progress of the country.

"What would the people of Japan do should Christ come there today? I can prophesy what would take place. This is a startling fact. All the nation would go after him.

LINKS OF HISTORY.

"Fifty years of history links America with Japan. There is no more likelihood that America and Japan should become involved in war than that England and America should go to battle against each other. God has lifted Japan and America into such high relations that war between them is not to be thought of. There may be a little friction once in a while but that is all. But I rejoice in one war that both America and Japan is making. Side by side they are fighting against the superstitions of the Far East and they will conquer ere long.

"There is no reason for a war as both nations are marching forward side by side in mutual sympathy. I find in Japan very little of the evil of our civilization and a great deal of the good. I'm going back to Japan and Korea, right into the heart of the people, and I'll carry to them a message of hope.

"If our President Roosevelt should go to Japan, the jubilation of the nation would know no bounds. When William Bryan visited there he received a warm welcome as a representative American. If the first man in this country should decide to visit the Mikado the whole nation would turn out to greet him."

Bishop Harris spoke at the Japanese Mission last night and tomorrow morning will address the students of the University of Southern California.

BURNED IS THE DREDGER.

Long Beach Fire Department Responds, but is Unable to Render Aid.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The clamshell dredger, which has been in operation for several months in the digging of canals through the Cerritos slough, west of town, burned tonight. The Long Beach fire department responded to an alarm, but the apparatus stuck in the mud at the foot of Third street, and it was impossible to get it close enough to the dredger to be of service. Capt. Gridley and crew got off safely. The wind was blowing about forty miles per hour. The fire will delay the harbor work materially. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

STABS ROBBER WITH HATPIN.

THEN ACTRESS ATTEMPTS TO CAPTURE HIM.

Returning from Theater Wit Two Other Women Man Confronts Them and Demands Valuables—When the Wounded Highwayman Starts to Run Is Seized—Finally Escapes.

Miss Florence Young stabbed an armed highwayman with a hatpin and saved herself and two women companions from being robbed in front of their lodgings at No. 219 South Hill street last night. When Miss Young discovered that her counter attack was successful, she attempted to capture the robber, with the aid of her companions, but he managed to escape.

Miss Young and her friends, who are actresses, were returning from the theater, where they are playing in "Buster Brown," when the man made his attempt to rob them. They were hurrying along Hill street. Suddenly the robber leaped from behind an embankment and told them to deliver their valuables to him. It was then 11:30 o'clock.

When the command was given Miss Young was behind the other women. Taking a hatpin from her hat, the young woman leaped forward and began to assail the footpad. His efforts to disarm her were of no avail, and when she succeeded in stabbing him with the pin, he turned and started to run.

"Hold him girls," cried Miss Young, as she grappled with the robber.

The other young women did their best to aid her, but the footpad was too strong for them. He finally wrenched himself free and dashed south on Hill street.

The three women went home and sent word of the attempted hold-up to the Central Police Station. Officers were detailed on the case, but failed to scure any definite clew.

ENDING ESPEE STRIKE.

Terms of Settlement in Texas Practically Adopted at a Meeting of Brotherhoods.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—At a meeting of the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Railway Trainmen, called by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clark tonight, terms of settlement of the firemen's strike on the Southern Pacific lines in Texas practically were adopted.

The terms, it is believed, will be made known tomorrow. Clark, before his appointment to the commission, was head of the Railway Conductors, and it is believed his efforts to end the controversy resulted from his personal desire to see the strike called off.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST CUBA.

Three Former Office Holders of the Palma Regime Accused of Having Shipped Arms.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Tribune tomorrow will say that rumors of a conspiracy against the peace of Cuba are again rife in this city. Three persons mentioned in connection with the plan to start trouble in the island were office holders of the Palma administration, two of whom are now in New York and the other in Europe.

According to these reports, arms and ammunition have been shipped clandestinely from this port to Cuba, for possible future use.

"SHARPS" WANT CHIEF JAILED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GALVESTON, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mayor Landes and Chief of Police Rewin have $5000, which sum was seized in raids on gambling houses after the "lid" was declared "on" and which they are holding for evidence.

The gamblers have tried by civil suits to recover it, but failed. They now are attempting to send the officers to jail on criminal charges for holding the money.

FINDS HIM IN HIS COFFIN.

Former Wife at Funeral of Judge Blair.

Meeting Arranged Too Late for This Life.

Leaves Fortune to Daughter He Did Not See.

By the bier of Joseph H. Blair yesterday afternoon, the romance of his life was recalled when the wife of his youth stood beside the black casket and looked down upon the still, white face of the man who had been her husband forty years ago. For nearly two score years they had not met, for the young couple found themselves maritally unsuited when the flush of romance had died away; separation and divorce had followed.

MISS NELLIE JOSEPHINE BLAIR, whose father left her a fortune a few days before he died.

A few days ago both were looking forward to a meeting, for their parting long ago had been in sorrow and not in hatred, but the grim reaper intervened. A slight cold, aggravated by a wet day spent outdoors, congested lungs throwing too great a burden on the heart, and in three days Judge Blair was dead, ending a career of constant activity in may fields of legal effort.

With Mrs. Nellie C. Blair, in Pierce Bros.' chapel yesterday afternoon, was Joseph Blair's only child, Nellie Josephine Blair, born to the young couple before romance had grown cold. Just a few days before his death, while still in perfect health, Judge Blair made a will leaving all his property to his daughter.

Mrs. Nellie Blair and her daughter have been residents of Los Angeles, at No. 516 West Fifth street for more than a year, but Judge Blair did not learn of their presence in the city till some time after his arrival in November. He already had decided to make Los Angeles his home. Friends were arranging a meeting between Judge Blair, Mrs. Blair and their daughter when the fatal illness began.

At the funeral services for the famous jurist and corporation attorney were many old friends he had known in the course of his legal career. Among them were Thomas J. Norton, attorney for the Santa Fé Railroad, who knew Judge Blair while the latter was attorney for the Oregon Short Line; W. R. Richardson, his law partner in Omaha, now of Los Angeles; Ben O. Rhodes of Iowa; E. C. Benedict of Omaha, W. A. Budd, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore, Mr. and Mrs. DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williams, and many others of Los Angeles.

On the black casket were wreaths and masses of ferns and flowers, violets and white carnations, green leaves and purple ribbons.

The service was conducted by Rev. Burt Estes Howard, who read from the Psalms: "Yea, though we pass through the valley of the shadow of death, we shall have no fear." He spoke of the value of a kindly life being far greater than devout belief. He talked simply throughout, after the preface, "We are a little group of friends gathered together to pay a last tribute to one of our number who has fallen asleep."

The casket will be sent to Ontario this morning, where Judge Blair's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. P. Harwood, and her husband reside. Interment will be in Ontario Cemtery at 10 o'clock. There will be brief services at the grave.

CHEAP CEMENT FOR DESERT CONDUIT.

City Can Make the Best Portland Cement for a Dollar a Barrel—Owens River Aqueduct Can Be Built Within Estimate.

BY ALLEN KELLY.

CEMENT manufacturers who saw visions of wealth in contracts on the Los Angeles aqueduct, are mightily perturbed by the rude manner in which their visions were dispelled by the report of the consulting engineers showing that the city will manufacture cement of the best quality at a cost of a dollar a barrel. Naturally they turned to J. D. Hooker's Evening Pipedream for aid and comfort in their distress and induced that hydrophobiac organ to print a lot of figures, garbled computations and preposterous assertions purporting to demonstrate that the city cannot make cement for a dollar a barrel, and that it would be more economical to buy their product.

The Pipedream looks with scorn upon a cement conduit anyway, because one of its owners is in the pipe business and the others prefer small pipe developing but little water power, to a conduit which may develop close to a hundred thousand horse-power in electrical energy. Therefore the organ of the pipe dealer and the power companies, desperately eager to do anything injurious to the Owens River project and the engineers, prints a mass of misinformation on the subject of the manufacture of cement.

ELEMENTS OF COST.

It is true that it costs $2.12 a barrel to manufacture cement in the government mill at the Roosevelt dam. Oil is the fuel used in the mill, and oil costs $3.48 a barrel delivered at the works. It takes one barrel of oil to turn out three barrels of cement, making the fuel cost of cement $1.16 at Roosevelt. Oil at Tehachepi, where the city cement plant will be located directly on the line of the Southern Pacific, costs less than 50 cents a barrel. Allowing 48 cents as a liberal figure, the fuel cost of cement turned out by the city plant will be 16 cents a barrel. If the government could get oil at the same price, its cement would cost $1.12 instead of $2.12. But again, the government plant is running at only one-third capacity, which increases the proportionate cost of labor, and also some of the material is hauled to the mill.

HEAVY FREIGHT CHARGES.

The city of Los Angeles is now paying $2.35 a barrel for cement used in building the outfall sewer. The cement is brought from Napa Junction, and the freight charge is 85 cents a barrel. Also there is an agent's commission of 15 cents a barrel, leaving the price of cement at the mill, including manufacturer's profit, at $1.35 a barrel. The actual cost of manufacture of cement at the Napa plant is 50 cents a barrel.

The Colorado cement makers sell their product at a profit for $1.10 a barrel. In the East, the cost of manufacture is from 65 to 75 cents a barrel, according to capacity of the mills, and nature of the raw materials. What is termed "natural" cement is manufactured at about half the cost of Portland cement. Simon Maier bought the natural cement used in his new building in Los Angeles at 33 cents a barrel.

Freight is the principal item of the cost of Portland cement in Los Angeles, because there are no factories near the city. That item is eliminated from the cost of cement at the city's projected mill at Tehachepi, because the material is all close at hand, and requires no hauling. The cost of transporting cement from the mill to the places where it is to be used in the conduit is included in the estimates of cost of construction, and is not a part of the cost of manufacture.

CITY CEMENT PLANT.

The city has bought the land containing the lime and clay required for the making of the finest grade of Portland cement, and the railroad runs through the tract. Cement makers look seriously upon that land, which contains the only suitable clay found anywhere in that part of the country, and all of it, and have kindly offered to "take it off the city's hands," put up a mill and sell cement to the city. The Water Board says the clay isn't hurting its hands any as yet, and declines to sell out.

In building the Owens River conduit, 1,200,000 barrels of cement will be required, not 2,000,000, as the Pipedream says, with its chronic inability to quote anything correctly. The city plans to put up a mill of 1000 barrels a day capacity—not 2000 barrels, vide the Pipedream.

AN EXPERT'S FIGURES.

Mr. Duryea, the cement expert employed by the government at the Roosevelt dam, is now employed by the city, and he has gone thoroughly into all the details of the proposed cement mill at Tehachepi and figured precisely the cost of the plant and of operation. Plans of the mill have been prepared, and there is no guesswork in the figuring. These are Mr. Duryea's items of cost for a plant of 1000 barrels' capacity:

Cement and mill machinery	$124,875
Motors	15,000
Mill buildings	25,000
Freight on machinery, etc.	35,000
Power plant	95,000
Power building	5,000
Total	$299,625

Mr. Duryea's estimate of the cost of manufacturing cement at the Tehachepi mill is $1 a barrel. That is the estimate of a man who knows all about cement, and has had experience in building and operating mills. Of course, private manufacturers would be delighted to take the lime and clay land off the city's hands, put up a plant and sell cement to the city at market rates. After the conduit is built, perhaps the city may not have further use for so large a plant, and may be willing to sell it. The plant and the land probably will be worth pretty close to a million dollars at that time.

ENGINEERS WERE LIBERAL.

Chief Engineer Mulholland declares that the estimate of the consulting engineers is more than liberal, and that the aqueduct can be built completely for the figure named. There is an allowance of more than three millions for contingencies and engineering, but Mr. Mulholland says he does not require for engineering anything like the amount allowed, as he does not propose to do the work as government work is done usually. He does not need a large staff of high-priced engineers to give lines and levels to foremen on the works, and he regards with emphatic disfavor the government red-tape system of employing an army of clerks to prepare voluminous statistics of candles and powder consumed.

The consulting engineers estimated the cost of the long tunnel at $75 a foot. The chief engineer offers to wager a year's salary that if the tunnel work is done by contract, there will not be a bid higher than $50 a foot, and in that he is supported by experienced contractors and engineers. The tunnel will be 25,000 feet long, and it will cost $625,000, less than the estimate.

IF POLITICIANS ARE KEPT OUT.

There is not the slightest basis for the assertion that the cost of the Los Angeles aqueduct will exceed the estimate of $23,000,000. On the contrary, there is the best of reason for asserting that the estimate is high enough to anticipate contingencies, to provide for complete covering of the portions of the cement conduit, which will be left open at first, and to leave money for other purposes not included in the plans of the consulting board—provided that the work is done honestly, on a business basis, and kept out of the hands of the politicians, who are already scheming and conspiring to get control of the Water Commission and the Board of Public Works.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHOIR.

Dedication Service in Flower Street Church for Sunday-school—Big Fund Raised.

Dedicatory services of the new Sunday-school room of the Lutheran Church, at Eighth and Flower streets, were held yesterday morning. The event was signalized by the initial appearance of the first vested choir in a Lutheran church in Los Angeles.

An interesting feature of the exercises was the address of greeting by Rev. Charles W. Heisler, D.D., who founded the first Lutheran Sunday-school in Los Angeles nearly twenty years ago. He has returned recently after an absence of fifteen years.

Following the overture by the orchestra, the choir was introduced in "Processional," under the direction of Miss Edytha Marchant. There are eighteen singers in the choir, girls and boys.

The entrance of the Sunday-school classes, engaging in a banner exercise and singing the banner song, was striking.

After the invocation by the pastor and "Te Deum" by the choir, Rev. Hugh Dixon, secretary of Sunday-schools for Southern California, delivered an address on the relation of the Sunday-school to the church. Rev. T. C. Hutton spoke on the subject of "Adults in the Bible Class."

At the conclusion of the dedicatory services an offering was taken for the benefit of the Sunday-school room building fund, and $2300 was raised.

Times' New Year's Annual.

The Midwinter Number of The Times has had an unprecedented sale; more copies have been mailed away by enterprising Los Angeles citizens than ever before. It is a great missionary to send friends, and a thousand personal letters could not give them as much decisive information about this great land of ours. It will aid the whole country if business men will send a copy to their customers and correspondents. Real estate dealers can help themselves in no better way than by supplying clients living at a distance with one of these great papers. Anybody, anywhere, will surely be delighted to receive a copy of these "Land of Sunshine" publications. Mail orders promptly filled.

LIVES HOMELESS FIFTEEN YEARS.

AGED MAN DYING OF EPILEPSY AT COUNTY HOSPITAL.

Indifferent to Future, Silent About Past—Hands, Soft as Baby's, Are Strangers to Work—Not Slept in a House for Years—Carries Possessions on Back.

Under the time-worn name of John Doe, a man who is said to be 58 years old, was taken to the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon. It is hardly probable that he will survive an attack of epilepsy which seized him before the ambulance was called.

For fifteen years he has lived in Los Angeles, and during that time he has never slept inside of a house. His past is a mystery to others; his future is apparently a matter of indifference to himself.

The police are, in a way, familiar with the man, for he has frequently been a prisoner. His habit of wandering where he chose and sleeping in the most accessible spot has often made him an object of suspicion. In his fifteen years of life in Los Angeles the white-haired vagrant has always carried his possessions on his back. These consist of a roll of blankets, a few bits of patches, a needle, thread and a canvas sack. In the sack yesterday were found several dollars in silver.

"John Doe" always got his food by asking for it—begging would be a trifle inaccurate as a descriptive word, for his manner was far from cringing or even appealing. He simply requested his meals, as though he expected to receive them as a matter of course. When asked about his past the old man has always refused information. Questioned as to what he expected to do, he would invariably shrug his lean shoulders.

His hands are as soft as a baby's. He was never known to work since he has been in this city. The impression prevails, however, that he was once a prospector and that he came to California in the days when the gold fever raged.

Yesterday the old man fell in a fit in a livery stable, into which he had gone to avoid a shower. Other fits followed in the Receiving Hospital, and he was transferred to the County Hospital. From the latter institution it is thought that he will never come forth alive.

KNABE
THE PIANO THAT HAS NO RIVAL
After all there's nothing like having the best Piano. And best means Knabe.
Professional musicians and amateurs the world over are strong in praise of the Knabe's many virtues. The Knabe is proclaimed the "King of Pianos," and justly has it gained the title; not through solicited and paid-for testimonials, but through sheer merit—superiority—supremacy.
Grands and Uprights range in price from $550 to $1750. We are sole agents. Your inspection is invited.
Why not buy a Knabe? We sell on terms to suit and allow full value on your old piano.

Pen Points

It is suspected that Gov. Pardee hogged the finish.

Mr. Harriman has been suffering from a cold, but not in his feet.

The ice trust states that it is not in business for its health. Wouldn't that freeze you?

Almost every woman likes to cook, but there never was a woman born who liked to wash dishes.

The trouble with our present unparalleled prosperity is that it is a little inclined to be one-sided.

Dr. McGee believes that John D. Rockefeller is a type of the future. At present he is in a class by himself.

Since school ma'ams learned to cook it has become very difficult for boards of education to keep the positions filled.

If Mr. Taft is elected to the Presidency that old chair that Grover Cleveland used to sit in ought to about fit him.

When last interviewed Senator Smoot had hopes that his case would be reached about two years after his term expires.

When a town reaches the stage where folks don't know their next door neighbors then it may properly be called a city.

The American Consul at Amsterdam reports that the Dutch do not like our pickles. How would it do to hand them a few lemons?

The prices at the bargain sales indicate that the department stores are rubbing it on the people who bought things just before Christmas.

The attention of Congressman "Red" Hayes is called to the fact that forty Japs thrashed a section boss with shovels in his district one day last week.

It is the very irony of fate that a man can't get a drink in Boston on Sunday, the one place in the world where a drink on that day is most excusable.

Mr. Bryan says that he has "not" said that he would not be a candidate again. It is for him to decide. If he wants the nomination there is no one able to stop him.

Japan has 20 battleships and 73 cruisers. The United States has 26 battleships and 50 cruisers. Could we thrash the Japs on the sea? Oh, yes, but it wouldn't be easy.

Oats brought a higher price during 1906 than they did during the previous year. It was due, no doubt, to the fact that a great many more people felt their oats in 1906.

A hunter in Colorado shot a laying hen and the owner has sued him for $500 damages. He will doubtless win the suit. A hen that can lay eggs these days is worth $500.

The trouble with a war against Japan would be not that we couldn't whip her, but that a whole lot of busy men would have to quit their business and shoulder muskets.

In the town of Orsa in Sweden there are no taxes, and the railroad, telephones and libraries are also free. The only thing that has to be paid is the penalty of living there.

The Salvation Army has $430,000 invested in musical instruments distributed among a large number of bands throughout the world, several of which are said to be able to play tunes.

Musical instruments to the value of $32,500,000 were manufactured in this country during the past year. This would imply that there are very few of us who can't play on something.

An inmate of Sailors' Snug Harbor, a government institution, complains that no eggs are served with the meals at that place. Even Uncle Sam can't afford to buy eggs at the present price.

At the beginning of the new year there are 9,500,000 men under arms in Europe. If these men were lined up the line would reach a distance of 1500 miles. "Peace on earth, toward men good will."

Lincoln Steffins says that if we would, as a people, devote ourselves to patriotism the way we do to sin, this country would be one grand hurrah. "Linc" has evidently joined Jim Hill in the pessimist class.

A Chicago poet has written some verses in which he says: "I ask not wealth nor fame nor power." Then he evidently doesn't want anything. Outside of the three necessities he mentions there is nothing else that he could put up as collateral, as far as we have been able to ascertain.

Another of the "blue laws" of New England that has not been enforced lately is that one which forbids a man from kissing his wife on Sunday. It has been found that the law has been generally evaded by the practice among men of kissing other men's wives, or even sometimes kissing a lady who did not claim to be married at the time the osculation occurred.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The deliberations of the State Legislature will begin at Sacramento today and its proceedings will be watched with more interest than usual because of rumors that an attempt will be made by some legislative act to embarrass the prosecutors of Schmitz, Ruef and the other San Francisco grafters. It has not been made quite clear to The Times how anything of this sort can be done; but if an effort is made in that direction it will be no less than dastardly and will blast with certain infamy the authors of the measure. If the Legislature mixes in the matter at all it should lend more power to the elbows of those who are bringing these San Francisco scoundrels to justice. But there seems to be law enough already, and sufficient ginger in the prosecution. The prospects are good for the punishment of both Schmitz, the real leader of the gang, and his chief promoter, Ruef.

On the whole the people of the State will be most concerned in what the Legislature may not do, rather than in what it may do. There is no loud call for a large and varied assortment of new laws. If the Legislature shall confine itself to a few enactments in the interest of the general public weal and will turn a deaf ear to the solicitations of grafters and faddists it will earn the approval of the public. A new departure should not be taken merely because there is a temporary flurry for it. The demand should proceed from mature consideration and from demonstrated necessity or desirability, ere it is heeded. Legislators are too often deceived by a few shouters who make noise enough for an army.

So far as Los Angeles county is concerned, the one thing needful is the forwarding by the Legislature of the plans for city and county consolidation. Any legislation in this direction, any act submitting a constitutional amendment, should be very carefully and frankly drawn so as not to arouse hostility or suspicion. The fairness of it and the utter absence of anything like a "snap" or a "bug" should be so obvious that no criticism could be offered. The Times believes that a consolidation programme can be arranged so broad, so liberal, so free from offense and so manifestly to the advantage of everybody in the county (except job-hunters, village statesmen, and parasites,) that the sentiment in its favor will be practically unanimous.

FARMERS BEWARE.

The promoters of Wall street gambling seem to have awakened suddenly to the fact that the public is not taking any hand in the game. This has been the one factor in stock gambling during the last two years which has saved the country at several times from a panic. The game has been played almost entirely by the professionals, and the ups and downs, the losses and gains, have been confined to a comparatively small number of persons. These vicissitudes have come altogether between persons who could well bear the loss of a few millions or who would be but comparatively little richer from the gain of a few millions.

The dealers at this great gaming table have at last become thoroughly impressed with the fact that the farmers of the United States are possessed of an immense aggregate of wealth. The farms are no longer mortgaged, the crops need not be sold as fast as gathered at any price in order to meet interest overdue, notes coming due or to pay for the harvesting of the crops. The farmers are out of debt and the banks of the whole country are overflowing with the farmers' funds. The dealers at the big gambling table in Wall street are casting hungry eyes upon this great mass of wealth in the hands of the thrifty American farmers. They are tired of passing "antes" and playing for "jack-pots" between themselves and would like to draw confiding farmers into the game.

Farmers are told that the market is full of securities of the most solid character. They pay good interest and there is no fear in the world of their not being redeemed on coming due or of not paying the interest upon the very day "nominated in the bond." Of course this proposition is a mere entering wedge, or to vary the simile, a mere dangling of bait before the eyes of the suckers in order to get them to bite and come into the market. Every one knows what happens when a pig gets the taste of the pumpkin patch or the lusty calf of the clover field. No doubt there is a subconsciousness in the minds of the Wall street promoters that if once induced to sit down at the game, the farmers would in time cease to watch too closely the shuffling of the cards.

Undoubtedly there are bonds in Wall street which offer excellent investments to the man with ready money. The person who knows the game thoroughly, that is who is expertly acquainted with the exact value of these multitudinous securities, might well afford to put his money into some of them. Where a man knows what underlies stocks, who is handling the property they represent, and then, sure of his ground, buys them out of hand and pays for them, he may play the game with a certain sense of security. But the unskilled farmer who goes into the whirl of the Wall street speculative market and tries to invest his money in these securities haphazard, and especially to buy them on a margin, is playing with the most dangerous kind of fire. The Wall street promoters suggest the sending out of brokers, of course men of eloquent tongue and a thorough knowledge of the whole game, to tell the farmers of the West what beautiful opportunities they are missing. If the promoter were not so generally, not to say universally, of the tribe of Ananias, and if the effect of his eloquent pleadings were not so often, so almost universally disastrous, the farmers migh refrain from following the example of the deaf adder refusing to come out of his hole, charm the charmer never so wisely.

The public in not remote years had enough of this Wall street gamble. They are out of the market and are staying out with most admirable wisdom. It is more than probable that the siren song of the promoter will at this time be still lost upon the ears of the American farmers.

LIMITATIONS OF PROSPERITY.

The people of Japan are engaged in an effort to increase their merchant marine by a fleet of 150,000 tons register. The company proposing the creation of this merchant fleet is capitalized for $1,000,000. To construct such a fleet in the United States would cost not less than four times that amount of money. It might be done in Europe at a rather smaller cost, but certainly at no such figure as that proposed by these Japanese corporations. The cost of building an iron ship in Japan is said by the New York Wall Street Journal to amount to barely $3.33 per ton.

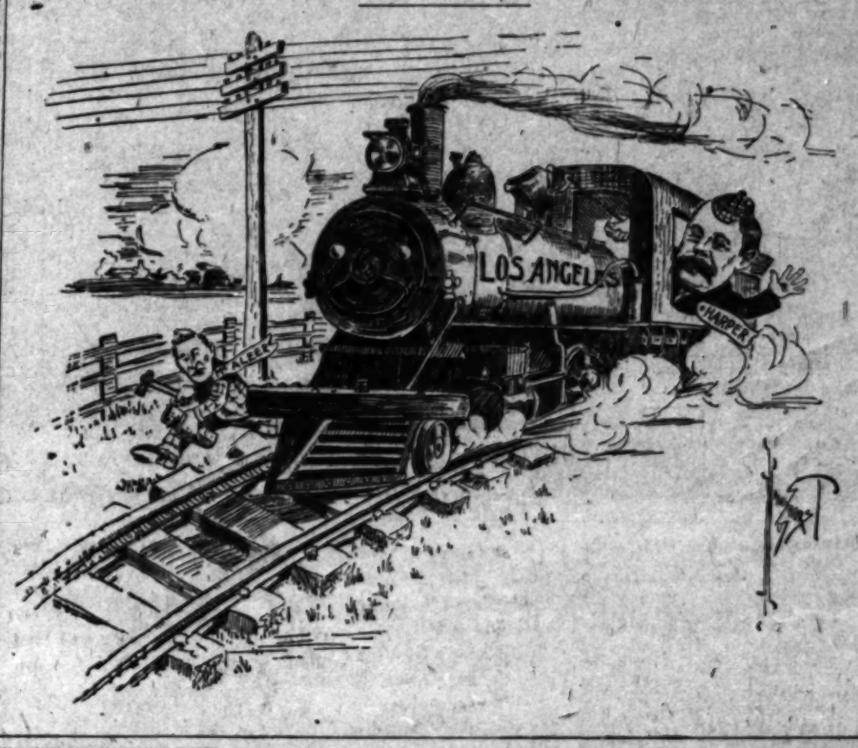
There is just one element going into the construction of a ship in which the Japanese have any advantage over us. That is the cost of labor. This projected fleet furnishes a very interesting study. The Japanese propose to dispute stubbornly with us every inch of ground in the commercial development of the Pacific Ocean. There are in the Orient from Behring Strait to the Straits Settlements along the western littoral of the Pacific, and reaching back of course a considerable distance into the interior, a mass of human beings said to number 800,000,000. The commerce of this large percentage of the human race, even at the present time, represents vast sums of money annually. The awakening of Japan and its development in the last fifty years, especially in the last twenty, point to what will take place along this whole stretch of the Orient. The commerce of Japan fifty years ago was practically nothing. The commerce of the present day reaches hundreds of millions of dollars. The trade of fifty years from now will be vastly larger than that of today. Japan has determined to secure it if possible. We must be the most notable competitor with Japan for this trade. The cost of building a ship must enter as an important element in this competition. But that is not all. The Japanese can operate a ship at proportionately as little cost compared with us as they can build one.

Thus it appears that poverty has its advantages and prosperity corresponding disadvantages in such a struggle as that of the century which we have just entered upon. Undoubtedly the cost of living has risen greatly in Japan during the past fifty years, while its commercial development has taken place. As China awakes from its century-long sleep and emulates the development which has taken place in Japan, the same increase must take place there. With the increase in cost of living must follow a higher scale of wages, both in Japan and in China, and thus there will be a slight tendency toward equalizing the advantage which cheap labor gives the Orient at the present day.

It may seem rather a remote consideration, but it is not, that the excluding of the Japanese from the right of emigration to foreign shores will retard this tendency toward equalizing our chances with theirs in competing for the trade of the Pacific Ocean. Every Japanese toiler who leaves his native shores and seeks an opportunity of earning a living in our country or in South America, exercises a proportionate influence in increasing the price of wages in Japan. That is a direct result. An indirect result is that many of these emigrants from the islands, after a residence of a period of years abroad, return to their old homes and take back with them the germs of a new civilization. They carry with them leaven which is bound to work upon the great mass of their countrymen. The same is true of the Chinese. Vast as the mass of population in the Flowery Kingdom is and inert as it appears, the leaven of western civilization carried back by returning Chinamen must influence, slowly but surely, the people of the whole country.

In fact, the unification of the human race is going on at a rapid rate. The tendency of the civilization of our day is undoubtedly toward the equalizing of conditions between all the races of the earth. The immigration from Ireland in the last fifty years of one-half its population has resulted in much better conditions of life for the half left at home. The annual departure from the shores of Italy of tens of thousands of the people of that peninsula is producing like results. As population in our country becomes continually denser, the opportunities for amassing vast wealth are likely to become proportionately less, and even the gains of labor represented by day wages must in time become more nearly equalized with conditions in other countries.

A NEW FACE AT THE WINDOW



A CYNICAL FELLOW.

Persian proverb: "Thou comest into this world crying while all around thee smile; so live that thou mayest leave the world smiling while all around thee weep."

It seems that the widows of Chicago have formed an organization to protect themselves from married men and triflers, and have applied for a charter. No triflers need apply and married men will be admitted only when accompanied by their wives. The outside guardian has orders to shoot and investigate afterward.

Yesterday a car was coming rapidly down Broadway. An old gentleman, evidently hard of hearing, attempted to cross the track in front of the car. With a great effort the motorman yanked the car to a standstill just in time to prevent an accident. "You needn't have stopped," said the man, "I didn't want to get on."

There is a woman in the suburbs who sells all the Sunday-laid eggs and turns the proceeds over to the missionary fund.

If marriage is a lottery what is the advantage in waiting until middle age before playing the game? Do old folks win oftener than the young?

A Los Angeles man once went out into the country to buy a cow. He found one that suited him, and the bargain was soon made. "Before you take the cow away," said the man who was selling the cow, "I think I ought to tell you that the cow is all I represent her to be in the way of age, good milker, good stock and all that, but to be honest about it, she is given to kicking, and when anything goes wrong around her, she will kick a hole in the atmosphere big enough to let a cornsheller through." "Oh, that's all right," said the Los Angeles man, "my wife does the milking."

Without doubt the pure-food law will improve the standard of foods, and also without doubt it will improve the standard of prices.

"Yes, sir," said the colored janitor to the visitor, inspecting the huge new building, "we have it arranged to change the air all through the building. When we get ready we can just pump all the oxygen out and pump in the nitrogen."

Corn huskers of the third degree in Kansas are those that have to wait ten or fifteen minutes at the end of each row for the corn they have shucked on the way out to stop falling in the wagon.

Efforts to see the wheels go 'round are not confined to the boys. Man is a curious animal. He imagines that if he knew everything there is to know that he would be vastly benefited, that his happiness would be complete, that if he could strip everything down to the naked truth, clear down to the skeleton, he would die happy; no deception for him, no sir, what he wants, as the novelist said, is "facts, sir; yes, sir, facts."

And yet hath not the prophet in his wisdom declared that "the heart is full of deception above all things." Surely he did.

Differences between the genuine and the counterfeit are often largely in the "knowing," and there is an infinity of deceptions that not only are harmless, but are really beneficial; that is, they are beneficial up to the time the Probing Committee brings in its report, and then we learn that although we have had a good time, have enjoyed the season and gained flesh, still it was deception, and we immediately proceed to have a relapse and narrowly escape going into a decline.

The chromo was an oil until the neighbor with the artistic eye informed us it was a chromo, and then what a tumble occurred, and we had no pretty picture; the violin was a Stradivarius until the man with the long hair and unpronounceable name came along and told us it was only a violin, and quickly the tone changed. And did we not rejoice in the wonderful dingy old "piece" of the "old master," for which a fortune was paid, until it was discovered to be merely a clever imitation, and then to the garret it went? What about the Moor's philosophy of robbery, that it consisted largely in the "knowing," "he that is robbed, not wanting what is stolen, let him know it not, and he's not robbed at all." Deacon Jones eats maple syrup on his cakes every morning during the winter and enjoys both with much relish and accumulating avoirdupois. Is it vital that in the spring he should be told that his maple syrup was made of brown sugar flavored with tincturi corn cobis?

There are periodical clamors from men, restless, frantic to be at work upon some sort of change—anything in the shape of change, just so it is a change, with the idea apparently that if a change is effected in some vague mysterious manner they may be benefited by another's inconvenience. A favorite point of attack of the clamorers is the physician's prescription, and they call loudly for a law requiring the physician to write his advice in English that the patient may know as much as the doctor. Even if the prescriptions were written in English probably not more than one patient in a thousand would understand it any better than he does at the present time. The present method of writing prescriptions is the universal and only scientific one; one may take a prescription as at present written, in Latin, around the world, and get it filled at any drug store in any land. If you are not a traveler, but a home stayer, you will take a solution of "chloride of sodium," or a little "aqua calcis," or an ounce of "oleum recini," with beneficial effects, whereas if you knew you were taking "salt water," or "lime water" or "castor oil," you would hoot and splutter, and probably shock your friends with the vigor of your comment. It is better that one be not too well informed.

The good brother may take a prescription of syr. tolu oz. ss.; tr. cardamoni dr. ii; spts vini gallici q. s. oz iv with much benefit to his internal economy; whereas, if the neighbors positively knew that he had taken a stiff horn of brandy, his case would likely come before the Society of Home Defenders for serious consideration.

Now that we have the pure-food law, it is questioned whether, after all, we will be as much benefited by its provisions as has been generally predicted. Already there are murmurs that our condensed "cream," under its new label of condensed "milk," tastes vastly different. And the price is the same. Canned meats, with the pure-food label, will be out of the reach of ordinary mortals. Pickles, preserves, fruits, spices, relishes and so on through the list, the true-to-name pure-food goods, will be found on the tables of the rich, while the balance of the merchandise, the goods ordinarily bought and used by the great majority, appearing without disguise, since we will know all about them, will go down very slowly and with many a gulp.

As a rule, there is more than one side to every question, and it is quite likely that gradually the other side of this pure-food law will emerge from its obscurity.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY.

A Tennessee young man had five days in which to get married and fulfill the terms of his father's will, in which he was to receive a fortune of $15,000 in case he was married at 30. The young man advertised the situation, and took the first batch of replies home in a header barge.

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene, the dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear." Too bad. Wish they were at the surface where we could get at them. There are few, indeed, in the crowds of Christmas shoppers who do not linger in front of the windows of the jewelry stores, which this holiday season seem to be more lavish in the display of gold and silver and precious stones than ever before. There is something about the fire and flash and glitter and sparkle of these ornaments that fascinates and holds old and young alike; the rich and the poor all seem to surrender to the power the hypnotic influence of costly gems. I believe it is understood to be, this love of ornaments, the lingering sentiment of what possessed the heart of our remote ancestors, that is, we will call them remote, civilized, half-civilized, or savage, as the case may have been, and while we do not wear rings in our noses or bracelets on our ankles, we have them in our ears and on our fingers, and around our necks, and on our arms and wrists, and I presume we always will. And we love them, too most of us do. They appeal to us and charm us with their life and beauty. Big, fat men, rich men swing up to the window, and examine critically a three or four hundred solitaire or Bleucher; handsome ladies linger over beautiful pins and drops and necklaces; young men and maidens look longingly at the beautiful solitaires and wonder "how long it will be," or "will it ever be;" the tired worker, member of the great middle class, of whom the royal Lincoln spoke so affectionately always, looks long into the sparkling depths of diamond and ruby and garnet and emerald, and forgets his weariness in the inspiration that comes from their wonderful life; tiny children look into the face of another world and wonder whence comes the beautiful light, and look with awe upon the dealer who toys with the sparkling gems, as they with their playthings of wood and tin. A couple of young misses, scarce out of their teens, if that, stood near me at one of the windows of a big Spring-street establishment, the other night, and the way they ran through the list and disposed of all but the solitaires was really refreshing.

Why Scotch Whisky Is Smoky.

Every one who has drunk Scotch whisky has noticed its smoky flavor. A whisky salesman from Glasgow, Scotland, was asked last week what caused this smoky taste.

"After the germination in the malt is complete," he answered, "the malt is dried by being spread upon a perforated tile or wire floor over an open fire fed by peat and anthracite coal or coke. The peat is specially prepared and is kept dry for a year before using. The emanations from the smoldering peat are absorbed by the malt, subsequently dissolved into mash and pass over into the distillate, imparting to it the much-prized smoky flavor so well known in all good Scotch whiskies."

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

An Optimistic Song.

O, the world is growing better as it forges on its way—
(What? The plumber wants $10 for his twenty minutes' pay?)
Yes, the times are growing better as along the path we roll—
(Tell that scoundrel of a coal man he must give full weight of coal.)
And the good old world is brighter, and the fields are fair to see,
And the days are full of gladness for such folk as you and me.

Let us sing a happy measure, let us drain a jolly glass—
(I must tell those soulless pirates I won't pay that bill for gas.)
Let us shout and shake the rafters—
(How? The milk is measured short?
I will have that man arrested till he finds out what's a quart.)
Let us sing a blithesome measure, let us laugh the clouds away
For the good old world is better, getting better every day.

There is brother love abundant in our common fellow-man—
(Better be discreet with Muggins, he will skin you if he can.)
And the milk of human kindness never was so blandly sweet—
(Why on earth don't the policemen run the beggars off the street?)
Let's be glad that we are living, let's be glad for what we are—
(O, why don't these women shoppers think to take another car?)

It's a good old world we live in, full of laughter, love and light—
(Fifty cents a pound for butter that is tallowy and white.)
And she's rolling down the ages, getting better every year—
(On the quiet, Jibson's dealings are considered very queer.)
So clasp hands and sing together, as we journey on the way
For the world is growing better, growing better every day.

Helpful Hints.

To brighten the eyes, mix whiting and ammonia, apply with a soft cloth and rub off when dry. This will give the eyes a superlative luster, and make them look as good as new. This applies only to glass eyes.

To convert the ordinary window into a casement window, get a large box from some merchant, rip it apart and nail the boards across the lower sash. Cover them with some dainty goods. Cut the lace curtains off at the top of the board and hem them with skirt binding. The effect produced will be decidedly novel.

Save your potato peelings. Denatured alcohol is now manufactured from them. They will sell for at least $3 a ton, and by saving them for a few years you will amass quite a neat sum.

To remove ink from the fingers rub well with scouring powder, then scald, then polish with a dry cloth. O, no. That is the way to shine a steel knife.

When you go riding in your auto take an old alarm clock along. Should a break down occur you will find the clock an amusing means of passing the time while waiting for repairs.

A home made ice plant is possible for any family. Take a gallon of pure water, pour it into a shallow pan which has been thoroughly cleaned with sapolio and has then been lightly greased with lard. Set the pan of water outdoors over night. The purpose of greasing it is that the ice may be easily turned out next morning.

If your children eat too much of the varnish on their toys, feed them small pieces of sand paper that they may acquire an interior polish.

An ordinary linen handkerchief folded and placed over the mouth and held in place by a bath towel knotted about the head will prevent your neighbors from hearing you yell "Ugh?gh." when you take your cold plunge of mornings.

THE GULF STREAM.

Enormous Body of Water That Passes the Entrance to the Straits of Florida.

Capt. John E. Pillsbury, United States navy, who has devoted much time to a study of the gulf stream, is quoted by the Boston Herald as estimating that at the northern entrance to the Straits of Florida the hourly flow of the stream is about 90,000,000 tons of water an hour. At three knots an hour, about 463,000,000,000 tons a day flow through. It has been said that the gulf stream is equivalent to 2000 Mississippi rivers flowing together, and that if one hour's flow of the water were evaporated there would be more than fifty pounds of salt for every man, woman and child in the United States, or more than [illegible] by 100 times the [illegible] about. Miss Stone will play Mary Magdalene, while Andrew Robson will be seen as Barrabas.

Says the Cleveland correspondent of Musical America:

"Ellen Beach Yaw sang dinnerless and supperless at the Grays' Armory, Wednesday night, after paying $265 to the Lake Shore Railroad for a nerve-racking ride that she might sing here and fulfill her contract. A special train which she chartered in Buffalo, after missing any regular train that would have brought her here in time, made the distance in three hours and fourteen minutes, at an average of just about a mile a minute.

On Tuesday Miss Yaw sang in Boston. She had her Cleveland engagement in mind and wasted no time dressing for the street. She allowed herself to be thrown into a warm wrap and was then hustled off to the train, where she might dress at leisure en route. At Albany she was dressed for the street and had had a bite to eat, but missed the train that would have brought her here in time. Then it was arranged that as soon as she stepped off the train at Buffalo there would be a special in waiting to hurry her to this city.

Baskets for the excursion had been forgotten, and so Miss Yaw went hungry. She arrived here at 5:30, and no time was lost in reaching the armory.

IF THE MARK OF GOOD CLOTHES KNOW US FOR BEST VALUES

"Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed and some few to be chewed and digested."—Bacon.

Some suits are made only to be looked at in the window; others are made to hold their shape until the customer is out of the store; but ours are made for looks, wear, style and for satisfaction to you and to us.

Our specialty is styles for young men. They are particular but we are still more particular.

FOR SALE—
NEWPORT HEIGHTS ACREAGE.
What is known as Newport Heights lies directly back of Newport Bay, and is 70 feet above sea level at the lowest point. The land lies beautifully. The view of ocean and mountains scenery is unsurpassed.
Newport is 35 miles from Los Angeles, 30 miles down the coast from Long Beach, and is reached by the Southern Pacific steam and Pacific Electric railroads.
Considering soil, water for irrigation and domestic purposes, commanding location and shipping facilities, this is the cheapest acreage in Southern California. The land is A-1 and will raise almost anything.
We have fixed a price on this acreage which will allow the seller a moderate profit, and at the same time permit the buyer to make off the land a good rate of interest on the purchase price.
This is an unusual opportunity to secure acreage from first hands on very easy terms. Price for 1 acres $1500. Terms, 1-5 of purchase price, monthly, $300 cash, balance 6, 12, 18 and 24 months, 6 per cent. interest on deferred payments.
This property is going very fast and we would advise any who desire to secure one of these blocks to take the matter up with us at once and arrange to see it.

Lake County.

FOR SALE—
20,000 PEOPLE GO INTO LAKE COUNTY, California, every summer.—Thousands are going now for homes. By the new trolly line it will be but two hours or such a matter from San Francisco. The influx later will be immense. Improvements in the county—the wonderful 34-mile auto speedway around Clear Lake, the big power plant at the foot of the Lake, the railroads and a dozen other things—that together give employment to thousands of people this current year. Lakeport will be an extremely lively little city.
BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.
It happens just now that one of the two leading hotels in Lakeport—a fine three-story brick, well situated, splendidly equipped, leased till March 1st—has to be sold by the HOME REALTY CO. of Lakeport. It is a rare chance for somebody with hotel experience.
The same company has also for sale a well equipped lumber yard and planing mill, the only one in Lakeport.
Also a bowling business, established 20 years and paying handsomely. Owner retiring from business.
Easy terms can be arranged on any of these. For quick information about them, or any other Lake County property, apply to S. H. HENDERSON, 702 Trust Bldg., Los Angeles.

PRISON PAYS A PROFIT.

It hasn't been costing the State of Maryland anything during the past seventeen years to keep its convicted criminals out of mischief. At least, their earnings during that period have greatly exceeded the cost of their food and raiment. During the time named $267,768.13 has been paid into the State treasury from the surplus earnings of the convicts of the Maryland penitentiary, and, in addition to that large amount, and over and above the cost of their maintenance, they have earned for themselves, by working overtime during the period mentioned, the aggregate of $277,318.47. The foregoing figures unquestionably indicate that whatever else may be made of the criminal—whether his moral status may be remodeled or not—he at least may be rendered self-sustaining. During the past year the earnings of the convicts in the Maryland prison totaled $154,222.53, and after the entire running expenses of the institution were paid, including food, clothing, bedding, laundry, medicines, water rent, salaries of officials, etc., there was a net surplus of $44,001.14, and besides this the sum of $41,682.62 to the credit of individual convicts for overwork.
The Maryland institution has long been classed as among the best-managed prisons in the country—not alone well managed industrially, but it has furnished a widely observed model in its methods of treating those incarcerated.—[Baltimore American.

TO THROTTLE YELLOW RIVER.

Wonderful Speed Work Is Being Pushed.

All Espee's Energy Focused on the Colorado.

Hundreds of Cars Rush Rock and Gravel There.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA, (Ariz.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Whatever doubts may have existed about the matter, it is now certain that work is being crowded with wonderful speed on the task of mending the break in the Colorado River. A week ago there was occasion for the public to have doubts as to what the policy of the Southern Pacific Company would be. Then came from Col. Epes Randolph, through The Times, definite announcement of the vigorous policy to be followed.

This announcement was hardly made public before the whole situation at this seat of war was changed, and today the scene here surpassed description. Trainloads of supplies have been pouring in and the force of men, teams and machinery has been multiplied.

It was expected to begin dumping rock last Tuesday from the new trestle across the break, but Sunday's and Monday's big rise in the river washed out two-thirds of the trestle. Driving new piles at once was begun with five pile drivers, and it is expected that the trestle will be complete by Friday.

QUANTITIES OF ROCK ON HAND.

Hundreds of carloads of rock and gravel have been arriving from half a dozen quarries. Much of this has been dumped along the levee near the break to prevent its destruction by water, but many carloads will be ready to dump into the break as soon as the trestle is completed.

The break in the bank is about 900 feet wide, but the water is not deep. Some water is now flowing down the old channel whereas before the break, it was necessary to lift the water eight feet before it could be started down the old channel. This makes the task easier.

During the past week a contract was let to Peasley and Perry for the construction of a levee twelve miles further south and for the improvement of the present levee. About 150 mules were at once set at work. Three more carloads of rock came in today, and it is expected to increase the number to more than a thousand. This work is to be done in ninety days. Several hundred Indians are employed in clearing the ground for the levee.

ANIMATED SCENE.

Pilot Knob never before presented so animated a scene. The big pile of rock and gravel is alive with men, blasting material for the big fill, while at the base of the mountain, four great steam shovels are busy loading the large steel gravel cars commonly known as "battleships."

The work of widening the old levee between the break and Hanions, to permit the laying of a second track, is proceeding steadily, and six engines with double crews are on the ground.

All this force, supplemented by many trains hauling rock from 300 miles eastward and 200 miles westward, with fully 1000 men engaged in the distant quarries and gravel pits, tells of great determination to win.

And with this great increase in activity the old spirit has been brought to life. The skepticism and languor of the men have departed, and everywhere one hears the expression of absolute confidence in the final outcome of this great struggle with the yellow river.

At the Churches Yesterday.

"What is the Bible Good For?"

AT THE First Congregational Church yesterday Rev. William Horace Day preached on "What Is the Bible Good For." His text was, "The word of God is loving and active, and sharper than any two-edged sword—and quick to discern the thoughts and intents of the heart." Hebrews, iv, 12. He said, in part:

"In this text the writer to the Hebrews is giving a partial answer to the question, 'What is the Bible Good For?' As we walk through the streets and observe the dress of the passers we see men who affect the habit, dress and manners of a generation ago. They admire the older fashions. Others want nothing but the latest in dress and manners. There are styles of mind no less marked; the old-fashioned mind and the new-fashioned mind. We realize that the great majority of people adopt the happy mean and are neither wholly old-fashioned or wholly new-fashioned in mental style.

"To the old-fashioned man the old-time religion is good enough. He has come to love the past because by rich experience he has put its treasures to the test. He knows the Bible's power because he has found comfort in it.

"The old-fashioned man is limited sometimes in his interest to that which is new. He is the product of the times. His thinking must be expressed in terms of development. What value can the Bible have for him? Many a voice tells him, 'No use at all.'

"But he discovers that some of the most devout men of his mental type have found the Bible more wonderful and more divine than they did before studying it in the light of their new-fashioned ideas. They tell this new-fashioned mind that they see in the Bible a progressive revelation of God from the days of primitive man to Jesus Christ; that the same development which they see in nature is even more wonderfully manifest in its pages; that in it are to be found every one of the beautiful literary forms and that through each of these God is speaking to man—in poetry, in prose, in history and imaginative work.

"Below the lines of cleavage which the different styles of mind engender we find a common basis of appeal. The Bible proves itself the universal book. Its real value does not depend upon the historical value of the legend of its origin, but upon the keenness of its edge and the sharpness of its point."

Christ's Travels.

Rev. J. S. Thomson, pastor of the Independent Church, preached yesterday on "Christ's Travels in Foreign Countries." He said in part:

"When He was a child, He was taken to Egypt by His parents. They probably lived in Alexandria, the university city of the Roman empire. That city was the home of philosophers, scientists, theologians, and literary men.

"He and His disciples went to the coasts of Tyre and Sidon for rest. Tyre was once a very rich and progressive city, and Jesus surely saw with great interest its people and great works. He had no veil of prejudice over His eyes.

"In His northern home. He visited Capernaum, the great meeting place of traveling trades from China, India, Damascus, Rome and Egypt. At one time He lived and taught and healed there. Then He visited the regions of Decapolis.

"There is a period of His life of which we have no account. It extends from the time when He appeared among the doctors in the temple until He began His public ministry. Some people believe that during this period, He traveled, like Herodotus and Pythagoras, into many 'far countries.'

"Jesus Christ traveled with open eyes, and this was one of His qualifications for His divine work."

Spiritual Achievement.

At the First Presbyterian Church, yesterday, Rev. Frank DeWitt Talmage told his people how to make the new year replete with spiritual achievement. His text was: "The Years of Thy Life Shall be Increased." Proverbs ix:11. He said in part:

"To overcome your evil passions, and to live as your redeemed father and mother want you to live, is to be one of your chief desires for the ensuing year. There was a great change in your life when the old folks died. Not until that time, did you willfully let yourself go into the maelstrom of sin. Not until that time did you say, in a sinful sense: 'Well, it does not matter much what becomes of me. Mother is now dead, and father is dead. Even if I do wrong, and become dissipated, they will not hear of it.'

"But somehow, during the past few months, the teachings of the old homestead have been pressing down upon you with mighty power. Man, you are tired of sin. You are tired of yourself. Do you know what is the matter? I think your dead parents are pleading with you and for you now, just the same as they did of old.

"Discouraged man, today wearied of the sinful world, as you sit there with the tears running down your cheeks, you think they are your tears. They are not. They are the tears of your dead and redeemed father and mother, which God has long been preserving in His sacred bottle. They are the tears of joy which your father and mother are now shedding in heaven, because the white-winged angels have already flown to the Celestial City to announce to them that their boy is a-wearied of sin; that their boy is now ready to cast himself upon the love of Jesus and be saved.

"Well, my brother, your mother lived mostly for her children. Do you not see that if you refused to repent, refused to be a good man and live a pure life, that your sinful acts would be damming back a great part of her prayers and the good results of her life?

"The best memorial you could ever make of your mother's life is your own life consecrated to the service of Jesus. She put her blood and her life into your life. So man, this ought to be a happy year for you. It ought to be happy, because by your own consecration to the service of the Lord Jesus you are here and now ready to let your mother's prayers echo and reecho and resound in your prayers. Her good deeds will find a true continuance in your good deeds. Her Christ shall hereafter be worshiped with a sweeter look, because He is also now her boy's Christ."

Why We Are Here.

Rev. Dr. C. Elwood Nash preached to the Universalists at Cumnock Hall, yesterday, the keynote of his address being: "What We Are Here For." He said in part:

"It is essential that we should feel that we are not ministers of our own schemes or ambitions, but only of God's eternal purpose. If He has a work for us to do here, we shall not fail in essaying it, so long as we hold ourselves subject to His object and plan.

"The nature of our mission is not to exploit a doctrine, build up a church or launch a crusade, but merely to obey God's commands.

"To accomplish this we must preach, must organize, must venture forth and encounter our business wherever it is cut out for us. As an instrumentality we need and hope to acquire a church which may be the foster mother of many churches.

"But you do not have to organize before you can give a cup of cold water or visit the widow and the fatherless in their affliction. Where these holy ministers are engaged in a church inevitably results for their more effective performance. But it is quite possible to become so engrossed in creating the agency as to forget the object.

"Let us consecrate ourselves to service and to worship; let us get individually busy in going about doing good; let us, without parade or pretension, prove that we have been with Jesus, by our devotion to the things that are necessary to His kingdom. Then, out of our joy and the gratitude of those we have been enabled to comfort and guide and uplift, by God's blessing, will come all the enlargement and recognition we can utilize.

"This is a method which runs no risk of failure, and its reward is with it. We may or may not achieve a great church, but every genuine act of service is a finality, a victory. There is always room for it, there is always joy in it, there is always divine benediction upon it, and it may be rendered anywhere by any one, to even 'the least of these, my brethren.'

"Here come we, in the spirit of the Lord, to proclaim His acceptable year, His open arms, His gracious fatherhood, the eternal era of His welcoming love and power.

"God gave all men equal claims at His table as members of one family. This is what I long to realize here in Los Angeles—the preaching of a living, inevitable universalism as the very 'law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus.' We surrender no jot of the teaching of our creed, but we have something to add to what sufficed in the days when we were everywhere spoken against—something that opens new chapters of meaning for ourselves to learn, as well as creates new points of contact with the live world about us.

"To affirm these vast verities of the gospel, to bring them home to men's business and bosoms, to learn to live in them, apply them, and enjoy them, in order that light may shine in darkness, sorrow be comforted, sin banished and God's kingdom be advanced in this world—this is what we are here for."

Thought Force.

Bara Bharati discoursed last night in the Krishna Temple on "Thought Force." He said, in part:

"People in this matter-ridden age have strange ideas of facts about themselves. As most people nowadays think most about the body and make the most of it, they do not put much value upon their thoughts. The minority only puts more value on their thoughts than on their bodies, but happily this minority is growing. More and more people daily are finding out that man's mind is his real self.

"Yes, man is his thoughts, ideas and sentiments, not his body. They are now calling Napoleon the greatest mystery in the history of western humanity. To the students of the inner man he is neither a mystery nor a miracle. The forces of his mind were so regulated that they could be focused in a twinkle at his will. And these focused forces pierced into any subject brought before his mind and found a solution.

"A greater hero of the western world, many thousand times greater than Napoleon, a hero at whose name Napoleon bowed in all humility during his humble days in St. Helena, was Christ Jesus of Nazareth. And yet the source of Christ's thousand times greater greatness was within the depths of His mind. Christ was nothing but his powerful thoughts.

"The thought force of Jesus Christ has penetrated the vistas of ages, and is swaying the minds of men today with the jeweled scepter of love, His love of God and man. Christ's thought force is the greatest strength and treasure of the western world, compared to which its material wealth, military power and scientific achievements are as nothing. Christ is the only asset of western civilization, though He does not belong to that civilization."

Christ's Message.

At the Temple Baptist church Rev. Robert J. Burdette preached on "A Personal Message," taking for his text: "Go, tell his disciples, and Peter." Mark, 16:7. He said in part:

"'And Peter.' This was a double message. We know that Jesus himself had appeared to this disciple. Over the sacredness of that meeting is drawn the veil that shields its details from our eyes. A meeting of wonderful tenderness it must have been, of heartbreaking sweetness, of penitence and sorrow, and loving forgiveness, and such consolation as heals the bitterest wounds of the past. The meeting may have been when Peter was returning from the sepulchre into which, with his characteristic boldness he entered, while John waited without; it may have been on his return home, his heart rent with conflicting emotions of doubt, and hope, and shame.

"The sepulchre had not been rifled, for the grave clothes were folded and laid away in their places. The word of his Master was true. Whoever had lain in that place of darkness had arisen, and of his own accord, had gone away from it a living creature. Would Peter again behold in the body the face that had turned upon him with sorrowful eyes, overhearing his loud and profane words in the judgment hall? How could he meet Him? What punishment would He mete out to him?

"And then suddenly the risen Christ stands before him. We can only imagine the picture of that scene of penitence and reconciliation of love, yet we know that each man, each woman, at some time in life, has stood alone with Christ for a little minute, kneeling before Him in penitence, in sorrow for transgression, and receiving from His lips the tender words of forgiveness and love to which not even the angels in heaven might listen, but only the soul to whom Jesus speaks.

"'Go tell His disciples.' That message is for all the world. 'And Peter.' Substitute your own name for that of the disciple. That is the individual message from Jesus Christ to every soul.

DON'T CHEER GLOOMY HICKS.

Pretty Cards from Pretty Girls Discarded.

Tomblike Graveness He Cannot Wash Off.

Once-buried Miner Not Big Gold Mine.

Hicks, "the entombed miner," who has been on exhibition in Los Angeles for a week, will leave for the East tomorrow night.

In cleaning up his room to go, the gloomy miner has thrown out about a ton of mash letters and postal cards—the relics of his short career in the public eye. It may be that they secretly flatter him; but they only seem to add to his natural gloom.

His career as an actor has not been the glowing success it might have been on account of this sadness. He looks so much as though he wished himself back under the mountain again, that you can't rejoice to the extent of your entrance fee over his rescue.

Hicks opened his show in the old Elks Hall, off which a corner had been fenced, at 50 cents per. New Year's Day they took him over to Pasadena and showed him in a skating rink at 15 cents. Since then they have been gallivanting him over the city vainly trying to scare up people enough to look at him. Yesterday he landed at the Chutes as one of the side shows.

His manager guards him like a cat. Just as they would only let him eat a little when he got out of the tunnel, so Hicks's manager has been cautious in feeding him the luxuries of life since he arrived in this city.

BURIED ALIVE AGAIN.

The guests at the Alexandria and Van Nuys watched each new face the day of Hicks's arrival in Los Angeles; but he didn't stop there. His domicile for the week has been a lodging-house on First street. For fear people might get sight of him for nothing—which would be like crawling under the canvas—Hicks's manager has made him stay in his room and even have his meals there.

The close friends of the chambermaid have been allowed to pretend to sort the laundry just outside his door and peek through the cracks while the hero dines. Sometimes Hicks would look up and see them. He would give them a gloomy look and go on eating, which he does by dexterous double scooping motions with both knife and fork.

Sometimes they lay for him in the hall and hold precious breathless speech with him until the manager scares them off.

One of the interlopers asked him how he liked life on the stage.

"I don't like it much," said Hicks sourly. "It's better pay than digging in mines, though."

"Are you going to be a miner again?"

Hicks fingered his watch chain—a gilt affair which weighs about six pounds—and said with weary blase air, "Not to do any hard work. I might own 'em."

Oh suds!

NO MATINEE GIRLS.

Hicks is very weary of the matinee girl, but does confide in the chambermaid whom he presented the other morning with a double handful of glittering shiny postal cards. Some of them came through the mail and some had been shoved under his door by timid admirers.

One was a tasty affair with three Christmas bells and a bunch of holly and the following beautiful sentiment scrawled in one corner:

"From one who has been praying and crying for your rescue every day. May this greeting find you well as of old." It was signed by a woman in Chicago.

Another was a picture of a billious-looking stage coach driven by a red-faced beef-eater. On one side it said, "A merry Christmas to Mr. Hicks from some girls who admire nerve."

Another was a chatty intimate one with a snow scene upon which a jagged-looking snow shines down. It said: "Congratulations on your rescue."

Another was from a girl who couldn't get all she had to say on one card and continued it on the second, then the second got lost. This was as far as she got on the back side of' two-winged lady-angels:

STILL IS JOYLESS.

"Dear Mr. Hicks: I am so glad that you have been released from your living tomb. This is indeed a very happy Christmas for you. You are certainly a very brave man. And your rescuers also deserve greatest praise. I should like very much to shake hands with you, but ——"

And then she went to the other card.

Another was from a child, scribbled on the picture of a little girl in her night gown: "I am a little girl who felt so sorry for you in your suffering."

One was very coy. The bells on this one were really wedding bells. Its stampless condition showed that it had been shoved under Hicks's door. It said: "I am sure it will be a happy New Year—Laura."

Oh, Laura, you skeesicks!

There were a dozen or so more of like style and purport.

Hicks seemed to have no joy in them. He has thrown out a bushel or more.

His manager, who has him under contract for a long period, will take him through the East. Even out here, however, he has been a disappointment as a drawing card.

SCHOOL REALLY REFORMS.

Less Than Ten Per Cent. of Boys Paroled from Ione Becomes Charges on State.

"Less than 10 per cent. of the boys who have served their time at the Ione Reform School become charges on the State after obtaining their majority," said Capt. W. S. Goodrich of the school last night. "While in the school each boy receives a fair education in the grammar grades, and is taught a useful trade."

Capt. Goodrich is in command of one of the four companies at Ione. He takes a personal pride in the record made by the boys of his company after they leave the school, and has secured lucrative positions for a number of them by recommending them to his former business associates here.

The electrical department is the favorite one with the incorrigibles, and Capt. Godrich says that just as soon as a boy becomes interested in the technical study of electricity, he is in a fair way to become a good citizen. There are only two other States that can show as good a record for paroled boys as can California.

RHYOLITE WINS LEMON.

Desert Mining Comp May Take the Scrap That Manager McCarey Did Not Want.

Rhyolite may have all the Hugo Kelly-Tommy Ryan matches it wants, for no other town would think of such a thing. Kelly is a real live one, and will probably beat Ryan, who has not fought for several years. He can hardly come back and be what he once was, and for this reason the fight should not be much.

Manager McCarey of the Pacific Athletic Club was offered this match several weeks ago, but passed it up as a bad one.

Who Is McCarthy?

There has been a rumor going the rounds that some fellow named McCarthy was to manage the Los Angeles ball club this year, but Henry Berry, who is the manager at present, knows nothing of any such man as McCarthy, and he would probably know if any one would. There has been some talk of getting a manager from the East who would captain the team, and this may be decided at the meeting today.

Chase Don't Know It.

New York has heard the news that Hal Chase of the New York Americans will not play this year unless he has his salary doubled. One must certainly go away from home to hear strange things, for when spoken to about this yarn, Chase told the writer that he had not heard of it. In all probability he will have his envelope fattened when he begins to get it this year. He is certainly worth all the money he can get, for few people ever saw a better all-around ball player.

Handball Men Lazy.

Notwithstanding the fact that the handball players of the Los Angeles Athletic Club are far behind their regularly scheduled games, there were no games played yesterday, but the chances are that all the preliminary games will be pulled off this week. Some such programmes must be carried out if the tournament is to be finished this month.

REID'S HEART BROKEN.

Will Leave Harvard This Month for His Home and May Retire from College Athletics.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite all urging of students and graduates, Bill Reid will leave Harvard permanently, for his home in two weeks. With two big failures in spite of mighty efforts staring him in the face, he feels rather blue over his record, which will be conspicuous in Harvard annals. He has, however, many successes of which to be proud, while his coaching system is likely to remain for a long while.

STORIES OF MINISTERS.

No Money in Hand, no Wedding. Why a Sign-Post Was Called a Minister.

[New York Tribune:] Dr. Ira Tyson spent the earlier part of his ministry in the New Hampshire hills. In his diary continued for a long series of years, and covering his changing pastorates from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, he gives many unique, amusing and curious experiences both in his own life and that of his brother ministers.

Up in New Boston was a venerable clergyman whose name and eccentricities were household words throughout the White Hills. This minister had a habit of never performing a marriage ceremony until the fee lay in his palm.

On one occasion, when the elite of the countryside had gathered for a prominent wedding, the best man attempted to pass the doctor a $20 gold piece. Somewhat abashed, his hand trembled and the gold failed to make connection with the clergyman, but rolled in among the guests. The ceremony halted, confusion ensued, and not until thorough search was made and the money was in the doctor's hand would he budge to tie the knot.

The diary relates another incident in the experience of the same minister. Riding in the hills far beyond the confines of his own parish, he was at loss which way to proceed. Espying a boy by the roadside, the clergyman queried the way to a neighboring town. The boy replied that he could consult the minister on the top of the hill just ahead and find out all about it. Then the lad looked at him so earnestly that the parson invited him to ride, which invitation was eagerly accepted.

The hill was a long one. At last, arriving at the top, the minister looked earnestly in every direction for some signs of a manse. Not a habitation was in sight. Turning to the boy he said:

"I thought you told me that a minister lives hereabouts of whom I could inquire my way.

"So I did, sir."

"Where does he live? Where is he?"

"Right there, sir," pointing to a sign post. Which pointed the way.

"Why do you call a guide board a minister?"

Times' New Year's Annual.

The Midwinter Number of The Times has had an unprecedented sale; more copies have been mailed away by enterprising Los Angeles citizens than ever before. It is a great missionary to send friends, and a thousand personal letters could not give them as much concise information about this great land of ours. It will aid the whole country if business men will send a copy to their customers and correspondents. Real estate dealers can help themselves in no better way than by supplying clients living at a distance with one of these great papers. Anybody, anywhere, will surely be delighted to receive a copy of these "Land of Sunshine" publications. Mail orders promptly filled.

GANS WOULD MEET O'BRIEN.

Great Lightweight Is Not Afraid of Jack.

Is Very Anxious to Dispose of Jimmy Britt.

After He Does This He Will Take on Gardner.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Joe Gans, champion lightweight fighter of the world, made his first public appearance today at the Trocadero in Chicago since his memorable bout with Terry McGovern. There was much interest over the manner in which the great colored mixer would be received here, the city being notably a Nelson and Herman town. The big crowd did not grow wild over him when he stepped before the footlights, but no unfriendly feeling was shown.

Gans said that the O'Brien story was something of a false alarm. "Of course, I would be willing to meet Jack under certain conditions," Gans said. "If he will make 154 pounds, ringside, and a club would put up a big enough purse, say $40,000, I would sign with him. I would want the purse to be split 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 to the loser, or each man take half. In that case it would be worth my while to fight O'Brien."

At present Joe is anxious to meet Jimmy Britt. He said the Coast lad wanted him to make 133 pounds at ringside, and that he would probably agree to it. He is willing to split the purse 60 and 40 per cent. Joe says he does not want too many irons in the fire, and for that reason refrains from tying himself up with matches in the future. After he disposes of Britt, however, he will be willing to take on Jimmy Gardner at 133 pounds.

MYSTERIOUS HUMAN BRAIN.

SCIENTISTS FIND IT A MOST BAFFLING STUDY.

Blinding of Certain Cells Will Cripple Locomotion of Animals—If Other Parts Are Injured the Animal Will Roll Over Like a Revolving Wheel.

Most baffling of all subjects that human brains have ever attempted to study is the human brain itself. We know far more of things about us and even of heavenly bodies millions of miles beyond our reach than of the mysterious organism within us which is the seat of all our knowledge. Investigations of this subject seem only to reveal new complexities, but so unique and remarkable have been the results of experiments in this field that the study is a most fascinating one.

To be sure, practical experiments, particularly those which involve some injury to the brain, must be confined to animals. But when we have fathomed the brain actions of the lower animals we will have taken a long step forward in the study of the highly organized human brain. The motor centers which govern muscular movements are most readily studied in this manner. A recent number of the French journal, La Science au XXme Siècle, describes a series of experiments on the effects of brain wounds, as well as external influences on the locomotion of animals and insects.

The lowest orders of animal life are jelly-like masses, incapable of locomotion in any definite direction, although by expanding and contracting they can move in an uncertain direction, which usually follows the line of least resistance. Such animals are usually circular in form, extending symmetrically in all directions from a common center. On the other hand, animals which swim, creep, walk or fly, no matter to what order they belong, have this much in common, that they are all made with a right and a left side.

CONTROL OF THE BODY.

Even the brain is made in two distinct parts, and, curiously enough, the right half controls the left half of the body, while the left half of the brain governs the right half of the body. When a bilateral animal moves the two sides act symmetrically, causing progress to take place in a straight line. There are some exceptions to this rule, namely, that certain of gnats, which progress by flying in circles, and of crabs, which, since the two sides do not move alike, are caused to travel sideways.

It has been found that if an animal sustains an injury to a certain part of the brain or nervous system it will be impelled to travel rapidly about in a circle. If other parts are injured the subject will roll over and over, or, like the spokes of a revolving wheel, may run around with the fore part of the body while the rear part remains stationary. Experiments of this sort have been tried with rabbits. When one of the nerve chords running from the eye to the cerebellum, or the lower brain, was cut, the animal would roll, but when a nerve chord running to the cerebrum, or upper brain, was severed, the subject ran around in circles. A cricket similarly treated was unable to remain beside the piece of bread which it was eating, but kept moving off to one side until it was out of reach of the food and then could not return of its own accord. When the insect was disturbed by touching it with the finger it attempted to run away, but could not break from the circular path which, much against its will, brought it back again to the meddling fingers.

Some physiologists believe that these peculiar movements are caused by the unbalancing of the two halves of the brain which control opposite sides of the body. In just the same way a boat will travel in a straight line as long as an equal number of oars with equal strokes are used on opposite sides, but, should the stroke of one of the oars weaken or should an oar be broken the crippled side will not move as rapidly as the opposite side, and the boat will travel in a circle. However, this simple explanation hardly accounts for the fact that the animal is unable to remain at rest if it so desires, but must continue on its circular course.

Another explanation is that in the brain are a series of organs which exert opposite influences upon the members of the body. For instance, one organ may govern forward motion, and this is counterbalanced by another which govern backward motion; another opposed pair may control the movements to the right and left, and so on. Normally these organs are balanced so that no motion results unless one organ is voluntarily stimulated or strengthened above the other. When one of the organs is artificially injured the animal is unable to restore the balance voluntarily and is hence compelled to move in response to the uncrippled organ.

DISTURBED EQUILIBRIUM.

It is found that this apparent equilibrium of the organs can be disturbed by other means than that of cutting the nerve cords or injuring the brain proper. Certain peculiar movements are caused by injuries to the inner ear, which is incased in one of the bones of the skull. This organ is composed of three tubes, called the semi-circular canals. One of these canals is horizontal and if this be cut the head of the animal will move from side to side. Another canal is vertical and if this be cut the animal's head will move up and down.

In insects the equilibrium of the motor organs can be destroyed by a more remote influence. Flies, bees and similar insects when blinded in one eye will turn away from the blinded side as if trying to avoid an object on that side, while moths and similar nocturnal insects turn toward the blinded side, as if seeking shelter in the apparent darkness in that direction.

However, this direction of flight is not a choice of reason, but apparently one of instinct, the motor organs on one side being stimulated or weakened more than those of the opposite side. Often an insect will be caused to move in a circle if one of its attennae is cut off. A snail if placed between two objects, one white and the other black, will crawl in a curve leading toward the dark object. Certain worms if blinded in one eye will twist about into a ring just as if the blinded side of the body were partially paralyzed.

Even without crippling an insect it is possible to cause circular progression. If a pellet of wax be fastened to one side of the wing cover of a cockroach the insect will not be able to walk in a straight line; but under the unbalanced exertion of supporting a weight at one side it will be stimulated to take longer strides at that side, and thus be impelled to move in a circle. At times the cockroach may endeavor to straighten its course, but the struggle is in vain, and in the end it is always obliged to yield to the mysterious impelling force within it.

TRAVELING IN A CIRCLE.

A phenomenon which is somewhat similar to this and may possibly be accounted for by the theory of opposed motor organs is that of a man who travels in a circle when lost in a blinding snowstorm. Under such circumstances no landmarks are in sight to aid the eye in its choice of direction and the walking soon becomes purely mechanical. Believed of any mental control the counterbalanced motor organs act in proportion to their strength or stimulation. One organ may be naturally stronger than the other, or, as in the case of the cockroach, it may be stimulated by supporting a greater weight on one side of the body than the other, in which case longer strides will be taken by the leg which this organ controls than are taken by the other leg, making the man pursue an endless circular path.

It must be admitted that the theory of opposed or counterbalanced organs does not completely account for all erratic motions of animals. Many physiologists are disinclined to accept it, although unable to offer a better explanation. At any rate, it is but one of many complexities showing that the brain is by no means the simple organism it was thought to be a quarter of a century ago.—[A. Russell Bond in New York Herald.

HINDOO LABORERS.

Sixty Lived Together in One House at Chico—Have Become Woodchoppers.

A dispatch from Chico says the sixty-one Hindoos who have lately been living together in a house at that place, have gone to Ward, where they are now at work chopping wood on the Glanella ranch. Of their mode of living, the correspondent says:

These Hindoos eat anything that English-speaking people do except beef, this being against their religion. A very interesting and instructive thing is to watch the Hindoo make his bread. Probably no one would be able to imitate it after watching very carefully, as there is an art about it which they will not divulge. The Hindoo uses about equal parts of ordinary flour and graham flour, and he applies unsalted butter and milk in the mixing. He then adds some mysterious ingredient, then getting upon his knees, commences to pummel the pan full of dough. Gradually it commences to rise, and in the course of five minutes the pan is heaped to a height of a foot or two. The dough is very light and fine, and the Hindoo guards his secret formula with a great deal of care. Small pieces of the dough are then rolled and placed on the top of the sheet-iron stove and warmed sufficiently to hold shape, and are then set upon the side close to the fire, and here they will swell to a thickness of two or three inches. This forms a large part of their diet. They eat three times a day.

Almost all of the men here are married, their wives and children being in India. They send money home, $100 at a time. They come from the Punjaub Province, in the eastern part of India, and have all been British soldiers.

Animals That Sleep Standing.

Among the animals that we know do not lie down to sleep are the ass, the mule, the elephant and most other pachyderms, or thick-skinned animals, such as the rhinoceros, the hippopotamus, etc. Most birds sleep standing on one foot with the head tucked under the wing. Toads sleep sitting. Monkey, apes and chimpanzees crouch, while the orangoutang lays on its back. Most of the cud-chewing animals lie on one flank. The flesh-eating animals curl up, the head between the paws, and the hedgehog rolls itself up into a ball.

Not How Cheap, But How Good

It is not the fact that the specialists of the Los Angeles Medical Inst. give their services free that accounts for the large and increasing practice that they have, but rather the fact that they actually cure their patients, who in turn tell their friends and thus their large practice is daily growing larger. No patient is ever accepted for treatment without a careful examination, after which we explain in full just what we can do for that particular case, never in any case deceiving a patient or making promises we can not keep.

We are proud of our success, and intend making the year 1907 the most successful in the history of the Los Angeles Medical Inst. Your friends and neighbors are being cured. Why not you?

A Patient's Honest Praise

Mr. E. N. Barrett, a well-known business man, holding the position of city salesman for a large wholesale business, has this to say of the Los Angeles Medical Inst.: "I can honestly recommend these specialists, as I came to them suffering from EAR NOISES and partial deafness, and my progress under their care has been more than satisfactory, and I have always found them skillful in their work and courteous in their attention to all patients. I live at 2611 North Griffin avenue, and any one can verify this statement that wants to."

Words of Praise From a Sufferer of Asthma

MRS. W. D. LEWIS,
227½ South Figueroa Street.

Mrs. W. D. Lewis, living at 227½ South Figueroa Street, voluntarily testifies regarding the treatment and cure of her own case, at the Los Angeles Medical Institute. Recently she said, in substance: "I have been a terrible sufferer from ASTHMA for a long time. I could not sleep nights; was weak, had no appetite and, in short, I was a very sick woman. The specialists of the Los Angeles Inst. convinced me from the first treatment that they understood my case, and my progress and recovery was more than satisfactory. My cough is all gone. I sleep fine, and all evidence of lung trouble has disappeared. I am astonished myself at the improvement, and cannot say enough in praise of the Los Angeles Medical Inst.

A Coal Saver

is a most important factor in household economy, and there is no better one than the Glenwood Range, as it utilizes every bit of coal put into the fire pot, and compels it to give out every particle of heat it contains. This heat does not go up the chimney as in many ranges, but is properly diffused within the range for cooking purposes.

AT THE CITY'S GATES.

PICO HEIGHTS.

MASONS of Pico Heights will erect a hall on the southeast corner of Pico and Fedora streets. The site was recently purchased from Charles L. Pierce for $15,000. The building will have two stories and will front on Pico street. The lot is 80x140 feet. The structure will probably be the finest and most expensive block on Pico Heights. The lower floor will be occupied as a department store, and the upper floor will be devoted entirely to lodge purposes.

Miss Lillian Higgins of San Gabriel has been visiting friends on Pico Heights during the past week. She returned to her home yesterday.

Storm waters have been the problem with which property owners on Pico Heights have had to wrestle. The paved portion of Pico street has given little trouble, but from Hoover street west to the city's limits mud and slush has held away. The operations of the ditch digger has helped to increase the slime and the end is not yet, as the street cannot be paved before late in the spring.

After a two months' visit in the East, Mrs. Thomas E. Gibbons is at her home, No. 2272 Harvard boulevard.

Mrs. J. M. Schaefle is in Santa Ana, the guest of Mrs Schaefle's mother.

Mr. McCarthy, a resident of Canada, is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. T. Harvey, at No. 1119 El Molino street.

Rev. David H. Loofbourrow occupied the pulpit yesterday morning in the Methodist Church and in the evening Dr. Stephen Bowers spoke, his subject being, "The Work of the Sabbath Observance Association."

Dr. Y. R. Carrillo is in Yuma, the guest of his brother, E. Carrillo.

P. Huebsch will erect a brick apartment building on the southwest corner of Oak and Washington streets, to cost $7500.

O. L. Sealye will erect $2000 addition to his garage on Washington and Hoover streets, and a two-story nine-room house will be erected on the corner of Lake and Tenth streets. The cost will be $3570.

A. L. Waters will erect a two-story building, containing four flats, on the corner of Sixteenth street and Millard avenue. The contract price is $3500.

UNIVERSITY.

The Educational Club, which is composed of educators connected with various institutions of the city, will meet this evening at the University of Southern California, and members of the faculty of the university will act as hosts. Dr. Lockwood of Pasadena will be the speaker of the evening, and will make an address upon "The Physiology of Child Study." The lecture will be in the east hall. Refreshments will be served in the trophy room. Prof. Schutz has charge of the commissary arrangements.

One of the pleasant parties last week was a watch-night party given by Miss Blanche Taylor of No. 1040 West Thirty-first street. The evening was spent in eating, dancing, and popping corn before the open grate. Those present were Mr and Mrs. J. S. Lucas, Miss Flossette Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brush and Messrs. Kilburn Holden, Clifford Johns and James Baker.

Dr. George B. Smyth gave a missionary address yesterday morning at the University Methodist Church on "The Evangelization of China." Dr. Smyth went to China as a missionary when there were only 12,000 Christians in the empire. Now, through missionary efforts, there are over 50,000. Dr. Smyth will be present at chapel exercises tomorrow at the university, and is expected to address the students. He is a witty Irishman and an interesting talker.

J. S. Banes and wife have arrived from Villisca, Iowa, and will spend the winter with their son, W. H. Banes of No. 917 West Thirty-eighth street.

The Child Study Circle of the Jefferson-street school will meet tomorrow afternoon and elect officers. The literary programme will include the reading of an extract from Mrs. Gilman's book "Concerning Children," and a discussion of the topic.

Bishop Harris, who arrived Saturday night, was expected in the city last week, and in anticipation of his coming arrangements were made for his appearance at the chapel service at the college on Friday. Rev. Mr. Komura, the Japanese pastor of the Methodist mission on Georgia street, was present, and Japanese songs were sung. Rev. Mr. Komura made an address which was translated by William Schwartz.

HIGHLAND PARK.

The New York Valley Improvement Association will hold an important meeting tonight in Grace Chapel. Matters pertaining to the new car line and street grading will be discussed. When the car line along New York street is completed, an effort will be made to have a branch line constructed, to extend from New York and Ash streets, along the latter street to Eagle Rock Valley, connecting with the line that already enters that valley from the south.

R. A. Baker & Co. have begun the erection of a concrete warehouse at No. 6305-6307 Pasadena avenue. The building will be 60x105 feet, running back to the Salt Lake Railway. It will cost $4000.

Miss Nellie Weible, daughter of Charles Weible of Aldama street and Avenue 54, was married to James E. Roeside of Los Angeles, New Year's night, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. J. L. Myers of the Christian Church performed the ceremony. The young couple will reside in the southern part of the city.

Miss Edna Chamberlain of Avenue 55 entertained a number of Monrovia friends last week. The father of Miss Chamberlain, Dr. M. H. Chamberlain, was for many years a resident of Monrovia.

Profs. C. B. Moore, Herbert T. Archbold and A. F. Shaw, of Occidental College, are spending the Christmas vacation on Mt. Wilson.

The orchestra of the First Methodist Church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carter of No. 1922 Monte Vista street, New Year's night, in commemoration of the eighteenth anniversary of their marriage.

The Ebell Club of Highland Park will resume its meetings tomorrow. Mrs. Jane Beatty will lead a discussion on current events. The committee appointed to select a lot suitable for a clubhouse will report.

Rev. W. H. Walker preached at the Bamfiat mission yesterday afternoon. Revival services will be held at the mission the last two weeks of this month.

A dinner party was given New Year's night by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Elwell of Ash street in honor of several friends. Those present were Edwin Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Johnson of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Woodruff of Long Beach, Messrs. J. T. Brinby and Arthur Davies of Pasadena.

Work has been begun on the new Methodist Church, at Avenue 55 and Ash street, and it is honed that the building will be ready for occupancy by May. At present only the auditorium, which will cost $10,000, will be erected, but a $10,000 Sunday-school hall will be added in the near future. Rev. J. A. Jackson welcomed twenty new members yesterday morning, which brings the membership up to 150. The church was orginazed in January, 1904.

The Highland Park Modern Woodmen have elected the following officers: I. W. Smith, Arthur Myers, John E. Ash, Edward Roth, Clark Bradford, Joseph Thornton, August Swanson, J. F. Meier, A. Hannaford and Joseph Pagett.

The new officers of the Royal Neighbors are Mrs. Jessie Roberts, Miss Carrie Wygal, Mrs. J. F. Meier and Miss Jessie Hanlin.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will hold an at home at the residence of Mrs. James Cortelyou on Hays avenue, next Thursday evening, to welcome the new members of the church.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Highland Park Improvement Association will probably be held this week. Several matters of improvement, among which is the petition asking for the paving of Pasadena avenue, will be discussed.

Special services will be held in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church each night this week, as this is the week of prayer for the Presbyterian churches. The services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. B. Berry, and ministers from the city.

The lot on the southeast corner of Avenue 54 and Monte Vista street has been purchased by J. S. Symonds for $1900. He will erect an apartment house upon it, which will cost $6000.

THE SOUTHWEST.

A large number of people were present at the service yesterday morning at St. John's Episcopal Church. Among them were several visitors to the city who formerly were acquainted with the rector, Rev. Lewis G. Morris, when he lived in Oswego, N. Y. Rev. Mr. Morris's sermon dealt with the significance of some of the religious rites practiced by the early Jews.

Miss Charlotte Friend of No. 1201 Budlong avenue returned last week from an extended trip in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Betchel gave a New Year's reception in honor of the G.A.R., and the Women's Relief Corps at their home, No. 1841 West Twenty-third street. The house was decorated with G.A.R. colors and refreshments were served. Mmes. Fitch, Webb, Emerson and Zimmerman assisted the hostess in entertaining.

Rev. J. D. Habbick of the Church of the Redeemer, (Presbyterian) preached two good sermons yesterday to large congregations. In the morning his subject was: "The Outlook for This Year's Winnings." In the evening he spoke on: "How to Live."

The University W.C.T.U. will hold a parlor meeting in the interest of the Ransom Home, tomorrow afternoon, at the home of Mrs. S. E. Beck, No. 1032 West Thirty-fifth street. Donations of fruit and food will be gratefully received and visitors are cordially welcome.

The Child Study Circle of the First Methodist Church was entertained on the evening of January 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will B. Hutchinson, No. 1240 Thirtieth Place. It was the occasion of the sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson and their guests wished them many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. Celia Evans returned to Pomona Friday after spending the holidays with ther son, Dr. A. O. Evans of No. 1115 West Thirty-ninth street.

Mrs. H. B. Goss who lives with a family named Coyt at No. 834 West Fortieth street, fell and broke her arm a few days ago. She attempted to find her way down stairs at night and missed her footing. She is 79 years of age and her recovery will be very slow.

Mrs. Reausseau of San Francisco spent the holidays here as the guest of her brother, P. L. Parker of No. 1281 West Jefferson street. Mrs. Reausseau's son, Lieut. Reausseau, U. S. N., has recently been honored by being promoted to the position of chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks. His work at Mare Island in securing a permanent deep water channel for warships has attracted wide attention.

SCHOOL GIRL IS MISSING.

MOTHER WONDERING IF SHE IS BEHIND FOOTLIGHTS.

Mary Mardis Has Passion for Theatrical Career and Interviews Mysterious Woman on Subject. Girl May Be Captive in House of Ill Repute—Police Searching.

Another recruit has joined the army of Los Angeles persons who suddenly disapear and leave no trace of their whereabouts. This time it is a fifteen-year-old school girl, Mary Mardis. She has been away from her home just a week.

The police have been making a search for her, but so far they have had no success. The girl's mother fears that her child has been enticed into some house of ill repute and that she is held a captive.

Mary Mardis lived with her mother, Mrs. Hill, at No. 245 South Flower street. Mrs. Hill is a dressmaker. The girl had attended the public schools, but the last school she attended was the Pico Heights convent.

Mrs. Hill says her daughter was not in the habit of going out without her permission, and that she never was away a night unless her mother knew just where her time was spent.

Last Monday afternoon the girl started downtown, saying that she was going to the telephone office to try to secure employment. She did not return, and at 11 o'clock that night Mrs. Hill received a note from her, delivered by a messenger boy, in which she said that she would be at home at 11:30 o'clock, and that she had gone to the Grand Operahouse with a friend.

When the girl did not arrive at the hour named, Mrs. Hill notified the police, but not a word from her daughter has she had since the note was received.

Mary Mardis is described as having a fair complexion, light blue eyes and dark brown hair. She is five feet seven inches high and weighs 110 pounds. When she left home she wore a dark red skirt, a red and white plaid waist and a three-quarters length coat, with a gray felt hat turned up on one side.

For some time past the girl has had ambitions to go on the stage. It is said that shortly after Christmas she was visited by some mysterious woman who did not enter the house, but who talked to her outside, and who, Mary said, was urging her to join some theatrical troupe.

Mrs. Hill and her daughter came to Los Angeles five years ago from Birmingham, Ala.

THEY RETURN THANKS.

The Los Angeles Prohibition Union opened its meetings for 1907 in Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon. About a hundred people were present. Rev. C. J. Hall spoke on "The Programme of the Union for 1907," in which he outlined the work which the officers of the union expected to undertake, and incidentally he returned thanks that the City Council was dead. John Whitson, a leading Prohibitionist of Oak Park, Ill., also spoke, detailing some incidents of the work in his home. Next Sunday the union will hold memorial services in honor of the late Dr. Stevens Bowers.

NEW WEDDING UPON OLD DAY.

SON MARRIES UPON FATHER'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Nelander Performs Ceremony Making Eldest Boy a Husband. Bride Wears Old Veil Worn by Her Mother-in-Law at Her Marriage Twenty-five Years Ago.

A son standing before his father at the altar to take the marriage vows on the silver wedding anniversary of his parents, and the son's bride adorned with the wreath and long veil which who celebrated their silver wedding yesterday and at the same time attended the wedding of their eldest son.

her husband's mother had worn at the altar just twenty-five years before, was the interesting scene witnessed by one Los Angeles congregation last night.

Yesterday was the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. E. Nelander, of the Swedish Lutheran Church. It was also the marriage day of their son, David Austrid Nelander, and Miss Hazel Grey.

The ceremony took place in the Swedish Lutheran Church, corner of Seventeenth and Hope streets, after the regular church service last evening. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. G. Franzen, missionary to India, who is just returning to that land after a sojourn in the United States.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Dr. Nelander in his official robes, and he used the beautiful ring ceremony with the full Lutheran ritualistic service.

The bride was gowned in white silk and carried Bride roses. She wore the long veil which her mother-in-law had worn at her own wedding, and this was daintily draped with orange blossoms and surmounted with the orange blossom wreath. She was attended by Miss Olive Nelander, sister of the bridegroom, who was also gowned in white and carried white carnations and maidenhair ferns. The bridegroom's attendant was his brother, Carl Nelander of San Francisco.

Before the altar an archway of white, entwined with feathery green, had been raised, and from the center of the arch were suspended three bells of pure white. Beneath these stood the bridal party.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. Nelander. His home is in San Francisco, where in the spring he will graduate from the Toland Medical College and will begin his career as a medical practitioner in the northern part of the State. The bride is a Chicago girl, and arrived in Los Angeles last Friday for the wedding. After a few days spent in this city the couple will go to San Francisco and at once will establish themselves in a cosy home there.

The Swedish Lutheran congregation will observe the silver wedding anniversary of their pastor and wife today. This evening there will be a public reception at the church, tendered in their honor.

Rev. E. Nelander, Ph. D., and Miss Anna Larson, daughter of Rev. S. G. Larson one of the pioneer ministers of Illinois were married at Sycamore, Ill., by this minister, twenty-five years ago.

Much of Dr. Nelander's time has been devoted to educational work. He was a student at Augustana College for some years, and after serving in the ministry in Illinois he went to Kansas, and was the first president of Bethany College, a large Swedish institution at Lindsborg, Kan. He served in this capacity for seven years, and then came to California, and for ten years was pastor of the First Lutheran Church of San Francisco.

Dr. Nelander came to Los Angeles to assume th pastorate of the Swedish Lutheran Church a year ago, and in this short time has endeared himself not only to his parishioners, but to a large circle of other members of the Scandinavian nationalities and the church people of the city.

TODAY IN ST. LOUIS

Marks the Passing of the Old City into the New, and the Transition from Old Ideals to New Standards of Industrial Supremacy

Going up Washington avenue through the grand canyon of the wholesale district of St. Louis, the new structure is easily the most prominent thing in sight, and, what is still more gratifying, the most beautiful.

For art in commercial architecture has until very recently been practically unattainable, due to the space requirements of nearly all such structures.

But that the Brown Company has solved the problem is apparent to the most critical eye, and the vast exterior of the big structure, from the solid granite bases clear up to the corning edge, is done in the finest style of French Renaissance, the entire face in ivory-white enameled terra cotta.

The effect is that of the most superb and splendid beauty of design, executed without a single lapse of detail to mar its perfect finish. Large plate glass windows, with ornamental iron frames, give light and ventilation, and all the windows of all the stories above, on Washington avenue, Sixteenth street and Delmonth street sides, are also of the best plate glass.

The construction is absolutely fireproof, floor arches and partitions of hollow tile fireproofing, carried by steel columns, beams and girders on cast iron base plates sunk to solid rock or resting on a foundation of concrete. The steel structure is calculated to carry a load of 300 pounds per square foot of floor surface on all floors.

No modern building is better built than this from the strongest point of view; or more safely constructed from curb to cornice. Insuring at once the fullest protection to life, safety of stock and contents, and immunity from loss by fire or interruption to business because of it.

Great credit is due and accorded to Albert B. Groves, the general and supervising architect of the "White House" of St. Louis, and to James Stewart & Co., of St. Louis, general contractors.

FLOOR ARRANGEMENT.

The floor arrangement is perhaps the best example of "applied system" in a distributing house ever devised.

Convenience, easy and rapid communication, economy, safety, labor-saving features of every variety are exhibited at every turn. Waste, both in time and motion, has been anticipated and eliminated; hardly a useless step or an unnecessary movement is possible in the great human and structural machine which systematic, intelligence, foresight and foresight of the men who have made the Brown Shoe Company what it is and the great building which will help make it what it is to be in the future.

BASEMENT AND SUBBASEMENT.

HEATING AND COOLING SYSTEM.

"The White House" above the first floor is heated by the latest improved vacuum system. The first floor and basement are heated by the most modern blast system. All the air, before being heated, passes through the McCreery air washer, which in winter is heated to a temperature of 70 degrees, and cooled in summer to a temperature only two degrees higher than the water from the city pipes; which means that the temperature of the office, lobby and salesrooms will be kept at practically 70 degrees the year around.

LIGHTING SYSTEM.

The "White House" is lighted with about 2000 incandescent lights from its own power plant. An eight-panel switchboard in this plant controls the lights on each floor from the engine-room by a separate switch. This means that, if the lights on one floor should become incapacitated, the other floors would not be affected while repairs are being made. This system, as well as all motors for running elevators, carrier system fans, etc., is run by its own MAGNIFICENT 150 HORSE-POWER PLANT, which embodies everything that is latest and best.

OFFICES, LOBBY AND SALESROOM.

The general offices, lobby and salesrooms occupying the main portions of the first floor, are handsomely fitted up with English oak fixtures and desks to match, with plate glass and brass grilles and trimmings. The floor of the lobby and salesrooms will be THE INTERLOCKING RUBBER TILE, which probably is the handsomest and best floor in use today. The walls are wainscoted with DARK TENNESSEE MARBLE AND WHITE-ENAMELED BRICK.

The interior arrangement throughout serves the double purpose of spacious and commodious general-office headquarters with a view to pleasant and comfortable business surroundings, not for a moment forgetting the wise economy of rapid, easy business accessibility and the value of time in handling smoothly the enormous trade which flows in and out of the big doors all day long.

SHIPPING DEPARTMENT.

And here in the shipping department is one of the studied features of the building, for the entire space is arranged like that of a first-class freight depot, with what are called "Jackknife" doors, eight in number, built along the entire St. Charles street side of the building.

The goods routed for certain railroads are piled inside of specified doors, so the drivers of the shipping wagons always understand where they will receive freight for the various roads. The sidewalk constructed on St. Charles street is such that the wagons may drive close alongside of the building and the doors raised out of the way for the freight handlers; thus the cases can be easily loaded on wagons without having to be trucked and piled on a platform or sidewalk, as is now the general custom. This means economy and dispatch in the shipment of goods.

Ship immediately, "I feel the goods right now! am waiting for them," the 27 factory men of the 19,000 customers of the Brown Shoe Company, has now lost its terror for the shipping clerks and freight handlers of big concerns.

The years 1902, 1904, 1905 have each shown a gain in shipments of one million dollars over cash preceding year, and for 1906 the usual annual million gain has been surpassed by a good amount, regardless of the interruption in shipping on account of moving operations during the last ten days of December.

It is not much wonder, then, that these sculptures strides in growth and the unceasing activity of A. G. solar organizations of One Hundred and Three live representatives, has not only necessitated the construction of new factories, but has produced the reality of the finest distributing house in the whole history of the shoe business of the country.

All the world loves a winner, and it is now an established fact that the sales force of the Brown Shoe Company is getting the business country with good shoes from ocean to ocean, from Boston to San Francisco. With their argument of quality-value and price, that is an argument that is important, the perfect system of the Brown Shoe Company dumped first-class service to dealers, and coincidentally the greatest possible shoe value to the consumer.

The White House is equipped with a private individual telephone central station. All the factories will be directly connected with the building by its private individual wires. Telephones are so placed that connections can be had with the various offices without loss of time in traveling back and forth. Every call for shoes from merchants in St. Louis, or throughout the entire country, can be immediately taken care of through long-distance connections.

AN AUTOMATIC CARRIER, especially designed for the Brown Shoe Company, with a capacity of 6000 CASES PER DAY, takes goods directly from the sidewalk and delivers to any floor desired, at the will of the receiving clerk. On each floor the cases can be conveyed to various locations by gravity carriers, there to be placed in stock.

Up on the third floor your guide steps off, to the left, and tells you as you follow him that here is the ASSEMBLY ROOM of the company. Here will be held the now celebrated semi-annual meetings of the salesmen, where, "the men that sell the shoes" get together. And it means a lot, this ASSEMBLY ROOM, to every man of the Brown Shoe Company. There trade comments and criticisms are meshed into corrected errors, weaknesses brought to light, strong points are emphasized, and everything that honest exchange of experience and opinion can do to make these shoes still better than before is done in the assembly room. Other meetings are held here, as occasion arises, and a seating capacity is provided to accommodate the entire selling force, together with all staff men at headquarters.

THE GRAVITY CONVEYORS provided in the "WHITE HOUSE" are a system of spiral chutes, which almost instantly take goods from the various floors, after they have been packed, to the shipping department. Open cases of goods can also be conveyed by this system from the various floors to the packing department, the equipment being sufficient to handle practically any volume of business. This gravity conveyor system was especially designed and constructed for the Brown Shoe Company.

A PHALANX OF FACTORIES.

Nowhere in the West, and probably nowhere, anywhere, is there any shoe manufacturing concern so intelligently or circulated in all its parts or so strategically situated; for by its very location, the management is enabled to gather at one grasp all the reins of the organization.

No shoe house, perhaps, in the world, enjoys quite the same ideal labor conditions—none in the realm of selling work—men and workwomen—and as loyal a legion as ever served any good cause in anything. Skilled hands and good factory conditions—and good service; and good treatment all around. You can't help but notice this in your turn through the factory buildings; the way the smile greets you wherever you put a question or look to operative to explain some step or other in the process; and it's a mighty good thing, too, for it helps slightly to make good workmen make good shoes.

Such, in brief, is the story of the "WHITE HOUSE" in St. Louis, where is located the vast establishment of the Brown Shoe Company, and run may picture it to your mind's eye if you will as a busing power. With its staff millions of feet to look in the heart of it, all its divisions and constructing forces ready—in close position. A compact, organized, aggressive business army supported by Loyalty, officered by intelligence, regulated by Economy, fortified by Experience, controlled by Judgment and led (by Enterprise—winning the battle of Competition, by the Sword of Success, under the banner of the Square Deal and Honest Shoes.

GET COAL IN WHEELBARROWS.

HOUSEHOLDERS IN DESPERATE NEED OF FUEL.

Pasadena Dealers Claim to Have 9t, but Say They Are Swamped With Orders — Citizens Allege That Promises of Delivery Are Largely "Bluff"—Attics Ransacked.

Office of The Times, No. 38 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Jan. 7.—In spite of the promise of the coal and wood dealers, given shortly before Thanksgiving, that the fuel famine would be but temporary, the state of affairs continues to grow more serious and a crisis is rapidly being reached. Little fuel seems to be on hand in the yards, and all orders are overdue.

Dealers claim that they have, in most cases, plenty of wood and a reasonable quantity of coal, but that they are unable to make deliveries rapidly enough. People who are in a condition to know, however, state that there is not enough fuel in town to begin to supply the demand, and that all promise of early delivery are made largely "on bluff."

One of the principal fuel dealers, when asked for wood yesterday afternoon, stated that he would be unable to make any delivery for at least a week, and he did not seem willing to guarantee that anything would be on hand at that time. Many householders, in despair, have secured wheelbarrows, and like vehicles, and have gone to the yards in the hope of getting even a few sacks of coal to carry them through the cold spell.

Just before the Christmas vacation began the contractor who furnished fuel to the public schools waited on the Board of Education, and stated that he would be unable to keep the schools supplied with the full amount at that time. He admitted frankly that he could not get the coal, and left the matter to the board for settlement.

One effect of the fuel famine has been a general house-cleaning in the city. Closets and attics have been overhauled, and every available bit of inflammable material has been called into service in heating the kitchen stove. To make the crisis more acute, the gas troubles have been tormenting housekeepers again of late, with the result that many a business man has had to put up with a cold luncheon when the weather was such as to demand steaming viands.

FANS DISAPPOINTED.

A lively game of baseball was planned for yesterday afternoon on the home grounds, and, in spite of the inclement weather, a goodly crowd turned out to witness it. The fates decreed otherwise, however, and though six innings were played, it was very slow, and very much mixed up and amounted to nothing as far as the standing of the competing teams is concerned.

The game was to have been between the Pasadena team and the Tufts-Lyon team of Los Angeles, the leaders in the winter league. Both teams had the same percentage and rivalry between the players is keen. When the Tufts-Lyon team arrived upon the field, it was found that they were three men short, owing to the fact that the rain had frightened away some of the players. It looked as though the game was off right there, but the manager managed to get hold of Harry Myers and succeeded in borrowing Wright, Keithley and Rube from the Myers team. With these men it was possible to play some sort of a game, but interest was lacking.

At the end of the sixth inning the game was called because of rain, and a dispute concerning the score. The umpire announced the score as 9 to 6, while the visitors claimed one run, supposed to have been made in the last inning. As the game was of no importance, no effort was made to settle the argument.

TROLLEY WORK DELAYED.

Work on the new electric line through the Pasadena Heights tract has been discontinued for the time being, owing to the fact that the Pacific Electric Company finds it necessary to get the lines between here and Los Angeles into the best of condition before the middle of January. For this reason, it was necessary to put all available construction men on the main lines.

Several lengths of rail have already been placed on the new line, however, and as soon as the necessary men can be spared, and the required number of ties are at hand, the trackLaying will be completed. With a large crew of men at work the task can be accomplished in short order. The Pasadena Park Improvement Company, the owners of the franchise, deposited a bond for $10,000 with the city to guarantee the completion of the line within a reasonable time.

HER CONDITION CRITICAL.

Mrs. A. J. Drothsen, who is lying in the Pasadena Hospital with three bullet holes in her body, which were inflicted by her husband in a drunken rage, is still in a precarious condition. It is as yet impossible to say how the case will turn out. Even if the woman survives her injuries, it is probable that she will be paralyzed for life, as the bullet near the spinal column has destroyed all feeling from the waist down.

Considering the severity of her injuries it is remarkable that Mrs. Drothsen has withstood them as well as she has. At the time her body was found in her Lamanda Park home, shortly after the insane act of her husband, it was supposed that life was all but extinct, and it was some time before the services of a physician were secured. But she rallied, and was able to give instructions for the burial of the suicide and would-be murderer.

RAIN DOING DAMAGE.

The late rainstorms have come at a very inopportune time, as far as the street work on South Fair Oaks avenue is concerned, and serious delay will probably result. In several places the street had been prepared for its last layer of cement between the car tracks, when the storm washed every bit of loose soil down the street and deposited it in the wash.

If the rain continues there is no telling just when the paving work will be completed, and in the meantime traffic is seriously interfered with. It is almost impossible to drive a heavy vehicle across the tracks in the middle of the avenue, and several accidents have narrowly been avoided. With a few days of fine weather much could be accomplished, but the outlook at present is far from encouraging.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

The banquet of the Edison Electric Company's employés, which was scheduled for this evening at Hotel Maryland, has been postponed until Wednesday evening. Arrangements are being made for a pleasant affair and good entertainment is promised. The menus and place cards have been designed in the form of electric lamps and all of the other decorations will be in keeping with the occasion.

A number of merchants are complaining of broken windows as an after-effect of New Year's Day. One large plate glass window was smashed by a man who jocularly tapped it with his stick to see if it would crack, and a number of showcases had holes poked in them by people who were careless with their umbrellas.

If the wind continues it will be necessary to invent some new arrangement for fastening the globes on to the ornamental cluster lamp posts. Several of the lamps are now without shades and every heavy windstorm takes a few more down. So far they have been replaced as fast as they were broken but this is likely to prove expensive and some arrangement for holding them more firmly in place will probably be tried.

A small fire on South Madison avenue called out the department at an early hour yesterday morning. The blaze was caused by the knocking over of a lamp and little damage was done. A member of the police force, in trying to jump on the ladder truck, was thrown to the ground and his uniform badly bedaubed with mud.

The wet weather is calling attention to the necessity for a mounted officer in the eastern addition and the residents of that section may take the matter up with the commissioners. Some of the best men on the force are assigned to the eastern beat but the territory which they are required to cover is so large that they are practically helpless when wet weather makes the use of the wheel impossible. An officer on horseback is badly needed and will probably be added to the force before very long.

Work at Oak Knoll has been set back considerably by the heavy rain storms of the past few days and several of the newly-laid-out streets have been seriously damaged. The system of gutters is not complete as yet and much of the storm water, which ultimately will be handled in cement culverts, was allowed to run loose down the middle of the graveled streets. Trees were undermined and considerable other damage done although the necessary repairs will be effected immediately.

SANTA MONICA NOTES.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 6.—Tomorrow A. L. Jenness will surrender the office of justice of the peace for Santa Monica township. The new justice will be A. J. Myers. At the same time H. I. Pritchard will retire as constable, to be succeeded by S. H. Jackson.

The building permits issued in Santa Monica in the year just closed represented a total expenditure of $370,000. Aside from this there was considerable building just outside the city limits. For this no permits were granted.

As long voyages are the rule at this season of the year for ships headed for these waters from foreign ports, no uneasiness is felt as yet at Port Los Angeles over the failure of the British ship Fennia to put in an appearance. She is under command of Capt. Hallman and left Newcastle 185 days ago. She has not been spoken recently, but it is presumed she is making her way slowly up the southern coast.

Mrs. O. N. Darling of Sixth street is entertaining her son, P. L. Darling, who arrived during the week from Chicago. He will pass the winter at the seashore.

Mrs. H. A. Spies is entertaining her sister, Mrs. A. M. Rea, whose home is in Lindsey.

Mrs. Irving Sayford of Los Angeles is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. T. H. Elliott.

Mrs. F. J. Nicholson of Minneapolis is spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark.

Mrs. Lottie L. Holmes of Ocean avenue is entertaining Mrs. Clayton Russell of Springfield, O.

Miss Vida Watkins has returned from Kingman, Ariz., where she has been passing the holidays.

A. N. Beaman has arrived from Del Norte, Colo., and will again make Santa Monica his home.

A. W. McPherson has gone to Arizona, where business interests will engage him for a month or more.

SUITOR OUSTED FOR A NURSE.

ONE LOVER DEFEATS RIVAL AND GETS THE GIRL.

Long Beach Romance of Sick Room and Feminine Attendant in Hospital Develops Announcement of Engagement of the Wearer of Cap and Pretty Striped Uniform.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 6.—The announcement is made today of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Mahler of this city and Lymi E. Babcock, and the wedding which is to take place the last Wednesday in January will be the finale of a pretty romance.

Miss Mahler, who is a dainty brunette, is a niece of Dr. W. H. Newman of this city. She came here a year ago from San Diego, on a visit. About that time the Long Beach Hospital was opened and Miss Mahler availed herself of an opportunity to qualify herself as a trained nurse. She has proven one of the best of the class. Of a sunny and jolly disposition she wanted not for admirers and in September pledged her heart and hand to a well-known young man in Rialto.

Two months ago, Jay Cooke, a young business man, was a patient in the hospital and Miss Mahler was installed as nurse. Among the many friends of Mr. Cooke, who called was his partner, Lynn E. Babcock, whose first meeting with the pretty nurse was fatal to his heartstrings, and his courtship was persistent. The nurse's fiancé soon heard of his rival and trouble began. On Christmas both suitors remembered the girl they loved, but Kingman demanded that Miss Mahler refuse Babcock's remembrances and on her refusal, the engagement ended there. This was Babcock's opportunity and he was quick to ask Miss Mahler to become his wife, and was made happy by an acceptance. Miss Mahler sent in her resignation to the hospital and is now busy with her dressmaker preparing her trousseau.

ABDUCTORS ARRESTED.

Attorney F. A. Knight, who represents Mrs. Frances M. Dorris, the woman abducted from a rooming-house on American avenue, yesterday afternoon by her husband, and brother-in-law, assisted by Deputy Constable Folsom, has begun proceedings to make it extremely unpleasant for the trio who are charged with having brutally assaulted his client. Late last night Mrs. Ora Mitchell, a close friend of the abducted woman, swore to a complaint charging Folsom, Dorris and Dr. Ledford with battery on the person of Mrs. Dorris. Folsom was arrested shortly before midnight by Marshal Young, who allowed him to go on his own recognizance. Dorris and Ledford were found at the latter's residence on Second and Linden and roused from their beds at 4 o'clock this morning were taken to jail and held until 10 o'clock, when they were released on the personal assurance of their attorney, E. C. Denio, that they would appear for arraignment Monday morning. Attorney Knight will issue subpoenas for Mrs. Pickett and Mrs. Dorris and hopes to force the defendants to produce his client in court.

Further than this he will appear in the Superior Court tomorrow morning and file suit to have an examination of his client and her sanity determined by a jury.

Dr. Ledford is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Dorris, and when on the witness stand in the proceedings before Judge Gibbs last week, she declared that he gave her the first dose of morphine which started her as a slave to the drug.

Attorney Knight has officers today on the track of his client, but so far has been unable to locate her. He is of the opinion that she is confined somewhere in the city.

BAD FOR BURGLAR.

A hobo burglar led the West Long Beach officers a merry chase all over Terminal Island yesterday, but was caught after dark as he emerged from under the Salt Lake wharf. He gave his name as William Fleming and was found in a furnished house which was unoccupied. The fellow was so covered with vermin that Officer Taylor would not make the trip by rail, but walked his prisoner along the beach from Terminal to Seaside Park, a distance of five miles, compelling the hobo to stay fifteen feet ahead of him. Both were nearly frozen when they arrived, but the burglar had a worse ordeal at the jail, being compelled to strip and take a cold water bath, before being assigned to a cell. Monday morning he will be arraigned on charges of burglary and vagrancy.

SLOW WITH PEWS.

With their new church almost ready for dedication, the members of the Baptist congregation are beginning to think they will have to inaugurate a new custom of standing up during the services. The pews for the new church were ordered in the East, but just as they were ready for shipment, fire consumed the factory and its contents. Since then, the furniture house has made countless promises but failed to keep any of them. A final appeal has gone East and a promise has been received that the new pews will be shipped this month. The stained glass memorial windows are being set in the church and the new organ installed and it is hoped to hold dedicatory services in February.

STREETS OF TERMINAL.

Residents and property owners of Terminal Island are up in arms against alleged misrepresentations by the Salt Lake in an effort to escape opening several streets in West Long Beach from the ocean to the navigable waters of the inner bay. In compliance with petitions from the property owners, the City Trustees have begun proceedings to open these streets, and the Salt Lake, which controls the frontage on the bay, is making an attempt to compromise. First they offered to open Third street, but were laughed at. Now they are circulating petitions asking that the trustees consent to a compromise on two streets, Third and Seventh, and telling those approached, it is said, that the leaders of the movement are willing, a statement most vigorously denied by the leaders, who say the original map filed by the old Terminal company, show these streets opened and dedicated. A later map recorded by the Salt Lake has appropriated the bay outlet of the streets. The City Trustees, it is said, will accept a compromise on four of the thoroughfares.

SEASHORE NEWS POINTS.

The Whites and Blues of the boys of the Y.M.C.A. last night concluded a red hot membership contest which was won by the close score of 101 to 99. The losing side tendered the winners a banquet at the association rooms at which Louis Thompson presided as toastmaster. Eighty boys enjoyed the feast.

Forty-four of the business men of Long Beach met Saturday to discuss the matter of securing the Craig shipbuilding plant. The company has a site selected on the inland harbor on which it will build a $50,000 marine ways if given a deed. The Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company, valuing the site at $200,000, has agreed to deliver it for $100,000. It was announced yesterday that $75,000 was pledged and new committees were appointed to raise the balance and complete the deal.

The rainfall yesterday amounted to .96 inch, a total for the season of 5.64 inches, as against 6.14 inches the same time last year.

The Townsend-Dayman Investment Company has purchased the launch La Verne and will charge her name and use the boat as a pleasure steamer on Newport Bay for the use of customers.

A lodge of the Universal Order of Foresters will be instituted in Long Beach Monday night, and despite the fact that there are thirty-five secret and fraternal orders in the city, the new organization starts out with a membership of fifty. Dr. J. J. McLaughlin, Supreme Vice-Chief Ranger and L. A. Wagner, Supreme Deputy will conduct the instituting.

A memorial will be presented Tuesday evening to the City Trustees, signed by two-thirds of the voters of Carroll Park, a suburb just beyond the eastern city limits, asking to be annexed to the city. The suburb is populous and the prettiest residence section in this part of the county.

The Hotel Rivera, the first big hotel in the city, is to be remodeled and enlarged, the hotel being rebuilt to the sidewalks, an addition of twenty feet. On the first floor will be three modern storerooms. The improvements will cost $4000.

A new twelve-inch artesian well being drilled on the Bixby ranch has reached a depth of 1647 feet with a good flow of water, but will be extended to the 1100 foot strata.

HARMONY DEVELOPS.

Opposing Elements Get Together in Glendale—Street Improvements and Franchises.

GLENDALE, Jan. 6.—The recent overwhelming vote in favor of remaining incorporated seems to have had the effect of uniting the hitherto discordant elements and the disposition now seems to be favorable for harmony.

The City Trustees have awarded the contract for one and one-fourth miles of street work on Fourth street and Glendale avenue, the work to consist of grading, oiling, and the construction of cement curb, and sidewalks. A number of other streets will be immediately improved likewise.

An election is to be held soon to vote on the proposition of issuing bonds in the amount of $17,000 for fire protection and for the erection of a City Hall.

J. C. Sherer, who has been cashier of the Bank of Glendale ever since its organization has retired from that position and he and Mr. Riggs have purchased the Glendale News. E. M. McClure, former editor, will engage in the real estate business.

Among recent real estate deals here is the sale of the Frank Sauer property on Third street, consisting of a lot 66x300 feet, with six-room house, for $4500, to eastern buyers, who will immediately occupy it. Another sale is of three lots purchased by Ezra F. Parker, from L. C. Brand on Brand boulevard between Second and Third streets, for $2000, and the bonding of the Scofield property containing fifty acres, for $25,000. This is hill property and is located on Moore avenue and was bonded by Arthur L. Hawes, who a year ago purchased the Workman ranch, containing 225 acres.

The committee which is acquiring rights of way for an electric road from the Eagle Rock line, through the Workman ranch to Verdugo Park, reports that most of the rights have been secured.

The Pacific Electric Railroad Company has made an application for a franchise on Ninth street from Brand boulevard to Verdugo road, from which point it is anticipated the company will also build to Verdugo Park. The same company has asked that a franchise be advertised for sale covering the alley west of and parallel with Glendale avenue, from First to Fourth street. The Salt Lake is after this same franchise for freight privileges and some lively bidding is anticipated on the proposition.

The property between A street and Verdugo which would connect the east and west ends of Sixth street, has been bonded in order that a franchise for an electric line may be offered for sale on that street, from Eagle Rock to San Fernando road. This would give the Los Angeles Railway Company a direct route from Pasadena through Eagle Rock, Glendale, Griffith Park and Ivanhoe, to Santa Monica.

SHORT LINE BEACH ANXIOUS.

Its Protective Association's Legal Committee Wants Sewer Mains Disconnected.

VENICE, Jan. 6.—Unless the programme, as at present outlined, is changed, the meeting of the Ocean Park City Trustees will be attended tomorrow night by the Short Line Beach Protective Association's legal committee. The committee will urge the disconnecting of the Santa Monica sewer mains from the Ocean Park septic tank. It is announced that unless the Trustees order this done, the committee will take the matter into its own hands.

G. Mather, of Sitka, Alaska, who was a visitor here today, is a member of one of the new, and perhaps most exclusive, secret benevolent and protective organizations in the world. It has but recently been organized, and its membership in the Arctic Brotherhood. It is not unlike the Elks, although its field is limited.

All initiations, must be conducted north of the sixty-third degree of latitude. This makes it strictly an Arctic organization. It draws its membership principally from the miners and business men whose homes are in the Far North. Its membership already numbers several hundred and includes people from all parts of the civilized globe and members of nearly every known secret organization. It is popular and is growing rapidly.

NEW BANK AT THE PALMS.

Citizens Hold Mass Meeting and Subscribe Liberally—Outside Capital Also Represented.

THE PALMS, Jan. 6.—At a mass meeting of citizens last night, the required capital stock was subscribed for the new bank. Of the suggested amount, $25,000, $10,000 were taken by local citizens and the remainder will be subscribed by outside capitalists. A. J. Stinson is to be at the head of the enterprise.

Another mass meeting has been called for next Saturday night. At that time an effort will be made to effect the organization of a chamber of commerce. The citizens in general are interested in this enterprise and a large membership is assured.

Work is to be commenced within ten days on the installation of an electric lighting plant. This will supply business houses and residences with light and power. The streets are also to be illuminated.

MRS. HICKS IN NEW ROLE.

BY CREDITORS, SHE IS SUED FOR DIVORCE.

Enterprising Business Woman Comes to Los Angeles Where She Secures Separation from Hubby on Charge of Desertion—Board of Supervisors Curbs Traffic Man.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Hicks, who recently became conspicuous here by being made defendant in divorce suits brought to attach property by her creditors, has created a sensation upon the public by filing suits in the courts at Los Angeles for divorce, alleging desertion. Some days ago, Mrs. Hicks has been a resident of this city. She and husband conducted a grocery in the Block. Recently Mrs. Hicks made for $4000 and, without notice to her creditors, left for Los Angeles, where she has since made her home at No. 225½ [illegible] Street.

Reporters came to talk for publication. [illegible] Mrs. Hicks when he married Mrs. Hicks [illegible] years ago, he deeded to her Block, the understanding that they should own the property. VENTURA SHORT ITEMS.

Frank O. Wadleigh and Miss Rosa Glasscock were married in the M. E. church at Chatsworth on Saturday. The groom is a son of O. A. Wadleigh of this city and the bride the daughter of R. V. Glasscock of Chatsworth.

R. B. Haydock of Oxnard has assumed his duties as City Superintendent of Schools of Ventura, filling the vacancy caused by the election of Superintendent Reynolds to the position of county superintendent. The grammar schools open on Monday and there promises to be a far larger attendance than ever before.

Charles Murphy, arrested in Los Angeles on information from the Sheriff of this county, is in the County Jail here. He has had a preliminary hearing and will be tried before Justice Ortega on Wednesday. Murphy, it is alleged, secured large sums of money from the bank here by giving notes indorsed by leading citizens. He made different pretentions to different people all of whom seemed to have confidence in him. He was employed at the time in a local hardware store.

The Supervisors of the county have further enlarged the Courthouse grounds by purchasing a lot 75x75 feet adjoining the property on the east. This new lot will be improved and beautified, making a splendid addition to the Courthouse Park.

The Ojai State Bank has been incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, all of which has been subscribed. The stockholders and directors are: William Mead of Los Angeles, F. W. Ewing, A. Camarillo, Charles Carne and Edgar W. Carne of this city and John J. Burke of Nordhoff.

What is said to be the largest instrument ever recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Ventura county has been filed with County Recorder Argabrite. It is a deed of trust from the Ventura County Power Company to the Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles, and covers 124 typewritten pages.

The Native Daughters Improvement Club of this city has elected the following directors: Miss Maud McGonigle, president; Miss Helen Nidever, vice-president; Miss Minnie Daly, secretary; Miss Adelyn Gandolfo, treasurer, and Mrs. F. J. Sifford.

Samuel S. Sheparda, a resident of Saticoy, died at the County Hospital here Saturday. The remains were taken to Carpenteria for interment.

POINT LOMA TROLLEY.

Incorporation Papers Are Filed in San Diego for Electric Road Via Old Town.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 6.—Capitalized at $100,000, the Point Loma Electric Railway Company has filed articles of incorportation, the directors being D. C. Collier, George M. Hawley, Sam F. Smith, George D. Easton and C. O. Reinhaid. The objects of the corporation are to operate a railroad from Old Town, four miles north of the city, to Roseville, Fort Rosecrans and Ocean Beach.

An application for a franchise will be before the City Council tomorrow evening. The San Diego and Arizona Railway Company will also apply for a franchise tomorrow evening, through the city, from Date street easterly to the National City line; also for a spur track from India street to the Spreckels Bros.' commercial wharf and bunkers at the foot of F street.

It is announced that the site of the freight yards of the San Diego and Arizona Railway Company will be located between Main and Pierce avenue, and Sampson street, and South Eighteenth street, covering a space eight blocks long.

WILL BEGIN SURVEY.

John D. Spreckels arrived from the North this evening and with him came an engineering party of twelve men, who are in charge of E. J. Kallright, Mr. Kallright had an important part in the construction of the San Joaquin Valley road. Mr. Spreckels stated that these engineers will at once begin the surveying work for the line of the San Diego and Arizona Railway from this city to Yuma.

HARBOR CITY BRIEFS.

The records show the transfer of the Santa Margueerita ranch, above Oceanside, to Richard O'Neil, excepting only a right of way through the property for a railroad line. It is said that Huntington interests are behind the proposition of building a railroad between here and Los Angeles, and that the right to cross the Santa Margueerita ranch was the only territory where the right of way had not been received.

George W. Cooke, landscape artist, has arrived and will complete plans for city park improvement and development.

Although formal action has not been taken, the San Deigo Yacht Club is opposed to the idea of having next season's Lipton cup races off Terminal Island, as suggested by the South Coast Yacht Club.

At tomorrow evening's meeting of the City Council, arangements will be completed for calling an election to vote on a bond issue, calling for appropriations aggregating $853,600, including items for sewers, streets, fire and water and boulevards.

LIFE SELF-ENDED BY HOTEL MAN.

REDLANDS BONIFACE GIVES WAY TO DESPONDENCY.

Following a Period of Failing Health He Dies by His Own Hand by a Revolver Wound—Domestic and Financial Affairs in Excellent Condition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

REDLANDS, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frederick B. Johnson, a prominent and highly respected citizen, owner and manager of the Wissahickon Inn, a fashionable family hotel on the l[illegible] his, committed suicide between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon in his room. It was done by sending a bullet through his brain.

The ball entered over the right ear and lodged over the left ear. He had been very despondent and melancholy over failing health for two months. His domestic and financial affairs were of the best. Between 12 and 1 o'clock he delivered a package to a guest. As he failed to appear at luncheon a guest went to his room and found him on the floor in a pool of blood, gasping. Dr. Sanborn was summoned, but the end came soon after his arrival.

Mrs. Johnson is very ill with heart disease, and has been told that her husband expired from hemorrhage of the brain.

It is thought that while in a fit of extreme despondency he went to his room and, seeing the revolver, fired the fatal shot.

Besides the widow he leaves a son. His [illegible]e was 50. He had been a resident of Redlands three years.

IN TROUBLE FOR SHELL.

Missing Property Is Found on Young Man Arrested in Ocean Park Town.

OCEAN PARK, Jan. 6.—H. L. Collins and P. K. Pinson, young men from Los Angeles, got into trouble here this evening, and that trouble landed them in the City Jail. They were arrested upon a charge of petty larceny. As the story goes, they were looking at some goods at a Pier-avenue shell store, and after they departed Mr. Petersen, the proprietor of the store, missed a shell valued at about $1.50. The police officers were notified, and the men, who had been drinking, were quickly located. The missing shell was discovered hidden under the coat worn by one of the men.

OCEAN SPARKLETS.

A series of evangelistic meetings was commenced today at the Methodist Church on Lake street. The services will continue indefinitely. There will be preaching every evening, and the first sermons, which will be preparatory to the campaign for converts that is to follow, will be delivered by Rev. E. W. Pasko, the local pastor. About the middle of the week he will receive assistance.

Among the marriage licenses granted in Los Angeles yesterday was one in favor of Joseph J. Mora and Grace Needham, both of this beach. The groom is an author and painter of note, and the courtship and marriage followed a romance of last April that was interrupted by the earthquake that shook San José. Both were residents of that city at the time. Following the disaster, Miss Needham came to these shores, where she was the guest of her hister, Mrs. Rothwell.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weber are spending some time with relatives and friends at San Jacinto.

Several of the friends of the late Leonard McGlashlan, who died in Los Angeles Friday night, will attend the funeral in Los Angeles Tuesday. Mr. McGlashlan made his home here on Wavecrest avenue, and was the owner of considerable beach property.

PORT ITEMS.

WEATHER: Rain at 5 p.m.; wind northwest, velocity 18 miles.

The ship Sintram, from Astoria, brought in a cargo of 1,000,000 feet of lumber for local wholesalers.

The schooner Lucy, from Umpqua River, anchored in the outer harbor this morning, and will be towed to her berth at the Kerckhoff-Cusner Co.'s wharf tomorrow, to discharge a full cargo.

The schooner Spokane, from Port Townsend, also came in today with a full cargo for different yards.

The schooner Defiance, from Gray's Harbor, brought in 670,000 feet of lumber for the E. K. Wood Co.

The schooner Fearless, also from Gray's Harbor, brought 900,000 feet of lumber for the E. K. Wood Lumber Co.

The arrival of the bark General Fairchild this morning brought to the minds of many old-timers along the water front the earlier visits of the vessel to this port with coal. A long lapse of years has intervened, and the familiar craft will be towed to a berth inside, instead of being discharged on lighters in the open, as formerly.

Times' New Year's Annual.

The Midwinter Number of The Times has had an unprecedented sale; more copies have been mailed away by enterprising Los Angeles citizens than ever before. It is a great missionary to send friends, and a thousand personal letters could not give them as much concise information about this great land of ours. It will aid the whole country if business men will send a copy to their customers and correspondents. Real estate dealers can help themselves in no better way than by supplying clients living at a distance with one of these great papers. Anybody, anywhere, will surely be delighted to receive a copy of these "Land of Sunshine" publications. Mail orders promptly filled.

WEAK MEN

Let Me Guide You on Your Way To Regain Your Health and Renew Your Strength

Do you feel that you are not the man you once were? Feel tired in the morning? Easily exhausted? Back weak? Memory failing? Losing ambition? If you have any or all of the above symptoms, let me explain to you my methods of rebuilding the vigor of men, and refer you to the thousands I have cured. I guarantee to cure all the special diseases of men, such as Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Contracted Disorders, Contagious Blood Poison, Nervous Debility, etc.

GET CURED NOW

It is not a question of whether you can be cured, but whether you will be cured. Don't wait until it is too late. The cure is absolutely certain. I cause no pain nor detention from business. I especially solicit cases which many so-called treatments have failed, or where money has been wasted on museum doctors, electric belts and other appliances.

EXAMINATION FREE

I offer not only FREE CONSULTATION and Advice, but will make a careful examination and diagnosis without charge. No ailing man should neglect this opportunity to get expert opinion about this trouble.

Could I afford to make such an offer if I was not absolutely certain of curing every case I take?

Office Hours—9 a. m. to 5 p. m. 7 to 8 p. m. Sundays, 10 to 1.

The Pain Family

You know them; they are numerous, and make their presence felt everywhere. The names of the family are Headache, Toothache, Earache, Backache, Stomach ache, Neuralgia, etc. They are sentinels that warn you of any derangement of your system. When the brain nerves become exhausted or irritated, Headache makes you miserable; if the stomach nerves are weak, indigestion results, and you double up with pain, and if the more prominent nerves are affected, Neuralgia simply makes life unendurable. The way to stop pain is to soothe and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this. The whole Pain family yield to their influence. Harmless if taken as directed.

"I find Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills an excellent remedy for overcoming headache, neuralgia and distressing pains of all sorts. I have used them for the past seven years in this capacity with the best of results."
MRS. JOE MERRILL, Peru, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

SEVEN SEVENTY-SEVEN NOW.

THE RECORD OF SEASON'S RAIN CLIMBS MERRILY.

Inch and a Quarter at San Bernardino Yesterday and Lots of Snow in the Mountains—Heaviest in a Number of Years in Riverside County's Back Country.

A slight drizzle of rain now and then yesterday was followed by a downpour beginning at 9:30 o'clock last night in this city and lasting into the morning.

A reading of The Times rain gauge at 12:30 o'clock this morning showed a precipitation of .46 inch, making 7.77 inches for the season by that gauge. To this date last season the precipitation was 3.26 inches, according to the Weather Bureau gauge.

Up to yesterday noon Altadena reported 1.41 inches of rainfall for the twenty-four hours preceding. These figures are considerably larger than the precipitation for Pasadena during the same time. The total for the season there now amounts to more than fifteen inches.

The rain of Saturday and yesterday in Riverside added 1.07 inches to the season's total. Hail fell in Riverside briskly for a short time yesterday morning, but no damage was done. Fifteen hundredths of an inch is the record for yesterday, which brings the season's total to the high mark of 8.41 inches., Hemet, San Jacinto and Perris have had practically the same amount of rainfall, and report that crop prospects are better than they have been at this time of the year for ten years or more.

There were heavy rains during the day in and about San Bernardino. The precipitation at that county seat was 1.25 inches, making 11.20 inches for the season. There was a big fall of snow in the mountains.

It began raining in Santa Ana at 9:30 o'clock last night.

The rainfall in Ventura for the season to date is 7.51 inches as against 2.22 inches to the same date last season. Indications are good for one of the most prosperous years in the history of the county.

HIT BY HIGH WAVE.

Wild Weather on Atlantic Proves Disastrous to Cunard Line Steamer Etruria.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That there has been wild weather on the Atlantic of late has been plentifully testified to by mariners of the trans-Atlantic. Additional evidence was given yesterday, when the Etruria of the Cunard line came into port with five of her crew in the hospital, hurt when a great sea burst over her bows, on a black and stormy midnight. Another was killed outright. The gale occurred Friday night.

DAMAGE FROM EXPLOSION.

EL PASO (Tex.) Jan. 6.—Advices from Lowell, Ariz., today are to the effect that the damage by the explosion of the Denn-Arizona Company's magazine, containing 7800 pounds of dynamite, will be less than $30,000, while the damage to the company's property is estimate outside of the value of the explosives destroyed at about $10,000. Where the magazine stood is now a hole in the ground sixty feet deep.

Just Arrived

—A Delayed Shipment of—

Furniture

Several large consignments of furniture bought nearly a year ago are just arriving. This unusual delay was because the factories were handicapped and because the railroads were slow in forwarding cars from the east. Since these goods were bought prices have materially advanced on all lines of furniture—20, 25 and even 33 1-3 per cent. in many instances. If we bought these same goods today we would have to pay practically as much wholesale as we sell them for at retail.

To Unload this Surplus Stock Quickly, Prices are Marked A Fourth Under Value

This large shipment came just at a time when assortments throughout the store are practically complete, and to relieve this congested condition we offer shrewd buyers the advantage of this saving. Act quickly, for bargains like these are not to be had every day. This is not old furniture nor out of date styles that we want to palm off. Every piece offered during this sale is new, clean, high class and substantially made.

Greatest Bargains —in— Dressers and Chiffoniers

A large number of chiffoniers were included in this purchase. You can save 25 per cent. on these now. All prices from $10 up.

One extraordinary value at $16. Choice of toona mahogany or birdseye maple. Two patterns of mirrors in each kind.

Well worth $20

The greatest bargains of all this entire stock of dressers. We have about twenty or two different styles in golden oak that we especially dispose of at once, because of the great variety of samples. Prices are very low on these. Here is an opportunity for rooming house proprietors to supply needs. Prices are now

WE GIVE CREDIT

Weathered Oak Pedestal Table

$14.50

A table, if bought today, would retail for $18 and $20. It is made throughout of solid oak, weathered finish, and extends to six feet. Only a limited number to be sold at the special price, $14.50.

WE GIVE CREDIT

Rockers $1.90

Bought to Sell at $2.90

Two styles of arm rockers of solid hardwood, with shaped seats; bought to sell at $2.90; quick clearance price, $1.90.

$3.50 Rockers $2.35

Another style of arm rocker bought to sell at $3.50, marked $2.35. These are exceptional bargains.

Select Your New Carpets Now

We can save you money on carpets and rugs of all grades. You will always find prices lower "just over the line from high rents and high prices." The new spring carpets and rugs now here ready for your selection—the greatest variety and finest patterns ever shown.

Of special interest is the stock of large rugs. An exceptionally fine line of patterns in all grades.

New draperies and curtains and other things for "the Home Beautiful" are constantly arriving.
